Pickets Again Idle Key G.M. Body Factory

Union, Company Both Urge Halt To Stoppage

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) —Brief picketing early today idled a General Motors plant whose closing by a wildcat walkout last month brought layoffs to nearly 200,000 auto workers.

United Auto Workers and company officials both urged employes to return to the plant after pickets left and it appeared this walkout might end more quickly than the eight-day work stoppage last month.

That shutdown last month at the Fisher Body plant here, which makes parts for 90 per cent of General Motors cars, triggered closings of other GM plants within a week. Not all of those plants are back in full operation yet.

MEETING DUE

There were reports union leaders would call a membership meeting later in the day.

Pickets who prevented first shift union employes from entering the plant at 6 a.m. disappeared by mid-morning, but virtually all work remained halted at the plant.

Two union men were admitted to Mansfield General Hospital atfer an incident involving a station wagon occupied by plant security personnel.

The new picketing reportedly stemmed from reports that five men suspended during the early walkout were to be fired.

The plant personnel manager, Thomas Legacy, said the five men were still on suspension from the first walkout and no final determination on their status had been announced. Among the five is the crane operator whose suspension for refusing to load dies for shipment to another GM plant triggered the first walkout.

CALLED 'ILLEGAL'

The company called the walkout "an illegal strike."

An eight-day strike at the plant ended last Feb. 22 when UAW President Walter P. Reuther ordered the men back to work. The strike resulted when workers protested the "farming out" of work to other GM plants.

During the strike here, GM laid off nearly 200,000 workers at other plants, saying that the Mansfield strike caused a part shortage. The Mansfield plant produces doors, floorboards and other items for all makes of GM automobiles.

Cyclist's Injuries Fatal In Utility Pole Collision

JAIL DOOR OPENS FOR LAST (?) TIME — Jess Crider walked out of Marin County Jail today—for the 113th time—to a waiting sheriff's car which took him to San Francisco International Airport for a trip home to see his ailing father —at county expense. (Independent-Journal photo)

Crash On Miracle Mile Last Night

A Fairfax man, hurled from his motorcycle when it hit a utility pole last night on the Miracle Mile in San Anselmo, died today in Marin General Hospital.

He was James D. Nice, 29, of 57 Wood Lane, a bus driver for the San Francisco Municipal Railway.

Police said Nice had had a minor accident with his foreign-made motorcycle almost in the same location last Sept. 24, escaping with a nose injury. At that time, he ditched the machine after losing control, police said.

ENGINE RACING

Witnesses to last night's accident, at 5:45 p.m. near the Sequoia Drive intersection, said Nice was bent over in the seat, apparently trying to repair the motorcycle as he was riding west. They said the engine was racing, although the motorcycle was not traveling fast.

The machine then slammed into the pole, throwing Nice. He died from a fractured skull, doctors said.

His death brought to nine the number of traffic fatalities in Marin County this year, as compared to four at the same time last year.

Nice, father of three children, had been employed by the Muni since August, 1965.

FROM SALT LAKE CITY

Born in St. Paul, Minn., he had lived in Marin County two years, coming from Salt Lake City, Utah.

He was a member of the Marin County Bowling Association.

Survivors are his wife, Grace; two sons, Jim, 6, and Marty, 4, and a daughter, Tina, 5; four brothers, William of Hawaii, Marty of Fairfax and Richard and Daniel of Salt Lake City; four sisters, Mrs. Nancy Autry of Florida, and Sharon, Mrs. Elizabeth Ogborn, and Suzanne of Salt Lake City.

Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, is completing funeral arrangements.

Reagan Likely To Veto Any Withholding

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced today that his tax program will be "in excess of $800 million" and said "my inclination now" would be to veto withholding of state income taxes.

Asked if he'd sign a bill providing for the controversial withholding plan, Reagan jokingly told a news conference:

"I suppose if they held a hot iron to my feet and I was bound hand and foot. Every man has a breaking point."

'JUST OPPOSED'

"I'm just unalterably opposed to withholding," he said of the plan, now being advocated by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, and even a few Republicans.

His tax program—to be introduced tomorrow — occupied much of his weekly meeting with newsmen.

Reagan declined to spell out the details but his statement on the amount confirmed what his aides said last week.

He said it will provide the first direct state property relief in 30 years. His aides pinpointed that figure at $120 million.

Reiterated his administration was still committed to the goal of 10 per cent budget cuts. Asked why he wouldn't cut more, Reagan replied there's a limit to what a new administration can cut without reducing needed services.

TAHOE WATER

Said he wants to move quickly on saving the purity of the water of Lake Tahoe and indicated he thought his predecessor, former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, hadn't realized the seriousness of the problem.

"Once the water turns green, the ball game is over," he said.

Said his family will spend Easter holiday with his in-laws in Arizona and added he'll probably join them.

Reagan leaves for Washington and an appearance before the Gridiron Club and talks with Republican congressmen.

Planners Vote Bolinas Lagoon Land Freeze

By 4-2 vote, the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday recommended a one-year extension of the "freeze" on development in Bolinas Lagoon.

Commissioners Niels Schultz Jr. and Eugene R. Trombley dissented. Commissioner Claude Stoller was absent.

By taking the action, Schultz charged, "everyone of us sacrifices our rights." He said the freeze meant taking land without compensation and there was not even a provision to excuse private owners from a portion of the property taxes.

FOR CONSIDERATION

Supervisors were to consider the commission's recommendation this afternoon.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told the commission it might be difficult to enforce the freeze. Reason given the action is to provide time for study of Bolinas Harbor District's plan and bring zoning into conformity with a county master plan of several years back.

USE PERMITS

During the freeze, developers can get use permits, provided the uses proposed are in conformity with the master plan. This gave little comfort to John Campbell of Muskrat Corp., planning an 11-unit development on 15 acres at the north shore of the lagoon. His land is properly zoned for the development he proposes, but the master plan shows the property as open space.

"I don't think we have any alternative but to take this to court," Campbell told the commission.

"It will be a good test case," Commissioner Michael Praszker declared.

Federal Vendetta Blamed By Hoffa

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — James R. Hoffa surrendered to U.S. marshals today and was taken to prison to start an 8-year sentence for jury tampering. He claimed to the end he was a victim of government persecution.

The 5-foot-5, 180 pound president of the Teamsters union, the nation's largest labor organization, walked into the office of the chief U.S. marshal, Luke Moore, on the dot at 9 o'clock to give himself up, his three-year legal battle to avoid prison now exhausted.

After fingerprinting and processing, the 54-year-old head of union truck drivers was driven approximately 200 miles to the Lewisburg Federal Prison in central Pennsylvania, where he stands to spend at least 32 months before becoming eligible for parole.

Hoffa showed up eight minutes before the appointed hour of 9 but was besieged by reporters at the entrance. In response to questions, he made an extemporaneous statement calling his imprisonment a culmination of a government vendetta againsh him.

"The government has wiretapped, room-bugged, surveiled and did everything unconstitutional they could do in trying to place me in jail which they have temporarily been able to do," he said. "It's a very unhappy day in my life."

The trip to Lewisburg was in a less luxurious, government-issue car. He was wearing an expensive tan raincoat and a dark suit.

Later today at Lewisburg his garb would be blue twill and in a few days he may be pushing a broom instead of running a 1.8 million member union.

As he has innumerable times since he started his battle with the government 10 years ago, Hoffa said in his parting shot that he was innocent.

It all started 10 years ago when Robert F. Kennedy, former attorney general and now a New York senator, tangled with Hoffa at Senate rackets

TO VISIT DYING FATHER

Regular Jail Patron Gets One-Way Trip

Jess W. Crider has had more than his share of dealings with the sheriff's office, but nothing like what happened today.

The 56-year-old barrel-chested transient, with a record of 113 arrests for drunkenness since 1944, was handed an airplane ticket by Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to permit him to visit his dying father in Tennessee.

Deputy Edward Alves, transportation officer, even drove him to San Francisco International Airport at noon to put him aboard the plane.

"It's embarrassing that I don't have any money," said an appreciative Crider, "but it helped me a lot. It's wonderful."

Sheriff's and probation officers learned a few days ago that Crider's father, Hugh Crider, has pneumonia in his home at Clarksburg, Tenn., and that Crider hasn't been home since 1955.

Yesterday when Crider appeared before Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for sentence on his latest drunk arrest, the officers told Judge Roth of the situation. The judge sentenced Crider to time already served and authorized the sheriff to spend $130 from the jail's inmate fund for the plane ticket — one way.

San Rafael Seeking 285-Acre Annexation

San Rafael is going to seek annexation of 285 acres in the unincorporated area of east San Rafael.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen reported to the city council last night that more than 90 per cent of the land owners in the area want to be annexed to the city.

Councilmen passed a resolution directing Andersen to file petitions for annexation with the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Andersen said the area extends east from DeLong Chevrolet, 550 Francisco Bouldvard, and includes such establishments as the Motor Movies and the San Rafael Post Office.

It also includes 32.7 acres on the south side of Highway 17, owned by Maggiora and Ghilotti, which was submitted as an individual annexation in January. At that time the LAFC suggested that it would be better to submit a larger territory because annexation of the Maggiora and Ghilotti property alone would create an island of incorporated land in county territory.

The 285-acre annexation may be heard by the LAFC at the same time as another San Rafael annexation proposal submitted to it last week, calling for adding 106 acres at Highway 101 and Lucas Valley Road to cluding lands of Julia Sequeira and Manuel Gonsalves, is to be heard by the commission April 6.

105 Boston Commuters Hurt As Trains Collide In Storm

BOSTON (UPI)—Two four-car subway trains packed with rush-hour commuters collided at a station on a trestle today in a swirling snowstorm. At least 105 persons were injured, none believed seriously.

The two Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) trains crashed at City Square Station atop an elevated structure 50 feet above the street in Boston's Charlestown section.

Women screamed. Passengers fell to the floor like bowling pins. Two persons suffered broken legs.

The injured were carried in stretchers and litters down winding and ice-slippery steps to scores of waiting ambulances, police cruisers and patrol cars which took them to Massachusetts General Hospital and Boston City Hospital.

One train had stopped to wait a change in lights when the second skidded into it despite the operator's frantic efforts to stop. The trains, not extensively damaged, remained upright but one was knocked off the tracks.

The trains were jammed with work-bound commuters, many of whom had left their cars at home rather than battle the blinding snowstorm that dumped up to nine inches of snow in the Boston area.

Marines Rip Red Attacks On Big Guns

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines smashed three frantic Communist attacks today against the American Big Bertha guns blasting across the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) into North Vietnam.

The Leathernecks at Camp Carrol suffered six men killed and 15 wounded but for the second time in a week brought their 175mm howitzers through a storm of North Vietnamese mortar fire without a scratch on the sand-bagged big guns.

Crack North Vietnamese units swarmed three times, once just after midnight and twice about dawn against the howitzers the Marines moved into position recently to help fight off invasion attempts by three North Vietnamese divisions poised at the DMZ.

The three Communist assaults at Camp Carrol's "artillery plateau" eight miles south of the DMZ came as more Marines fought off a North Vietnamese battalion two miles away in the jungle.

In Saigon, 400 miles to the south a sea of fire burned out eight blocks of waterfront slums in what was possibly the greatest Viet Cong terror strike against the capital.

The fire injured 14 persons and destroyed about 700 houses, leaving thousands of persons homeless, according to government spokesmen who earlier reported four persons dead and 1,335 houses burned out.

Staff Report Of U.C. Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly majority leader George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, is seeking legislation requiring the University of California to submit an annual staffing report.

Zenovich proposed a bill today calling for an annual report of university employees' salaries, hours and working conditions.

" . . . It would present a concise picture of the university personnel situation for the executive and legislative branches, as well as the general public," Zenovich said.

He said he thinks an annual evaluation would lead to improvements.

Jail Marijuana Plot Involves Child Beater, Missing Mother

A convicted child beater and the mother of the child who died of beatings were linked today to what Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said was a marijuana smuggling attempt at Marin County Jail.

The marijuana — if such it proves to be — was intended for Eugene O. Boehm, said the sheriff. Boehm was given a suspended prison term and a year in county jail by Judge Joseph G. Wilson after he pleaded guilty Jan. 3 to felony child beating. He had earlier been charged with murder in the death last Aug. 18 of 16-month-old Timothy Wayne Buckley.

And the package was placed in a garbage can outside the jail, claimed the sheriff, by Roberta Marie Buckley, mother of Timothy Wayne.

Merton Wesley Spaulding, 21, a jail trusty, was arrested Sunday when he picked up the package from the garbage can. Deputies who saw it there had been watching to see who removed it.

Spaulding, Boegm, and Mrs. Buckley have been charged in Marin Municipal Court with conspiracy to smuggle marijuana into jail. Spaulding also is accused of possession of marijuana. Both charges are felonies.

Spaulding, Boehm, and Mrs. raigned before Judge Hadden W. Roth at 5 p.m. yesterday and were to enter pleas this afternoon. Mrs. Buckley's whereabouts are unknown, said Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest Zunino.

Officers said the plastic bag contained enough marijuana to make a dozen cigarettes. Four white pills were also in the bag.

Indian Political Riots Kill Six, Injure 30

JAIPUR, India (AP) — Rioters clashed with police in Jaipur again today and a city official said six persons were killed and 30 others injured. Police imposed a 24-hour curfew and army troops were alerted.

The rioting broke out over plans by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress party to form a new government in Rajastan State although it does not have a clear majority.

Lawmakers Postpone Film To Aid 'Image'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Worries over its "image" led the Assembly today to postpone for one day the filming of an educational movie about the legislature.

A private photographer was ready to roll the cameras, when Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City, objected. He pointed out many members were absent in two committee hearings, and if a half-empty house were shown on film, it would be bad "posture" for the lower house.

Lodge Reported Ready To Leave Vietnam Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, has asked to be replaced within the next few months, but the White House is having difficulty finding a successor, the New York Times said today.

"It's all news to us," said a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Saigon. He refused to comment further.

Lodge was in Manila attending a meeting of U.S. ambassadors stationed in Asian countries.

Lodge, a 65-year-old Republican, was appointed ambassador to South Vietnam by President John F. Kennedy in August 1963 and served until June 1964. President Johnson appointed him again and he returned to Saigon on Aug. 19, 1965.

Russ Fishing Skipper Gets $5,000 Fine For Poaching

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A Soviet fishing captain who was fined $5,000 in District Court for fishing in U.S. territorial waters was back with his fleet today.

Judge James A. Von Der Heydt levied the fine yesterday against Nicolai G. Zernov after the Russian pleaded no contest to a charge of violating territorial waters last Thursday.

Zernov was given 14 days to pay the fine. It was not made clear what steps would be taken if he failed to pay.

After the fine was imposed, the Coast Guard took Zernov and Vasiliy Guzenko, the commander of the fleet to which Zernov's trawler is assigned, back to the trawler.

Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel was highly critical of the fine levied against Zernov, as being "measily."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Corn Belt College Hit By Liberalism

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Donald R. Smith, a bearded exponent of expanded campus freedom, takes office tomorrow as student body president at Iowa State University—until now a fairly placid and conventional sort of place.

Smith

A 21-year-old mechanical engineering major, Smith, who once thought highly of Barry Goldwater's politics, was elected on a platform pledged to quash regulations on student activities outside the classroom.

He also called for cheaper textbooks and lower room rentals.

The conservative element has been alarmed both by Smith's beard—a comparative rarity among the academic young of the tall corn country—and his stated aims.

Smith, cribbing a quote from the late Adlai E. Stevenson, said he just wanted to drag ISU "kicking and screaming into the 20th century."

Sheriff Herbert Brown confiscated a .22 caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight and a homemade silencer in Williams' home.

Jazz Mass By Vatican Given Nod

VATICA NCITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI changed the rules for Roman Catholic church music today, opening the way to use of beat rhythms and jazz for sacred services.

The new regulations, issued to implement parts of the Vatican Council's 1963 decree on liturgy (public worship), are expected to revolutionize the music of the 2,000-year-old church. They go into effect on Pentecost Sunday, May 14.

The papal document calls for more singing in services, permits translation of Latin hymns into modern languages, recommends the use of instruments native to individual countries and cultures, and authorizes a period of wide experimentation to adapt modern musical forms and compositions to church use.

Beat music and jazz were not mentioned specifically. But there was no prohibition against them, and the document said new musical modes should be "held in honor, encouraged and used as the occasion demands."

The church's 61 national and regional conferences of bishops were given the task of putting the new rules into operation. They were told to set up liturgical commissions on both the national and diocesan levels, with musical experts outside the church to be consulted.

Independent Thinking Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has urged some of the brightest youngsters in the United States not "to move with the herd" but to be independent thinkers.

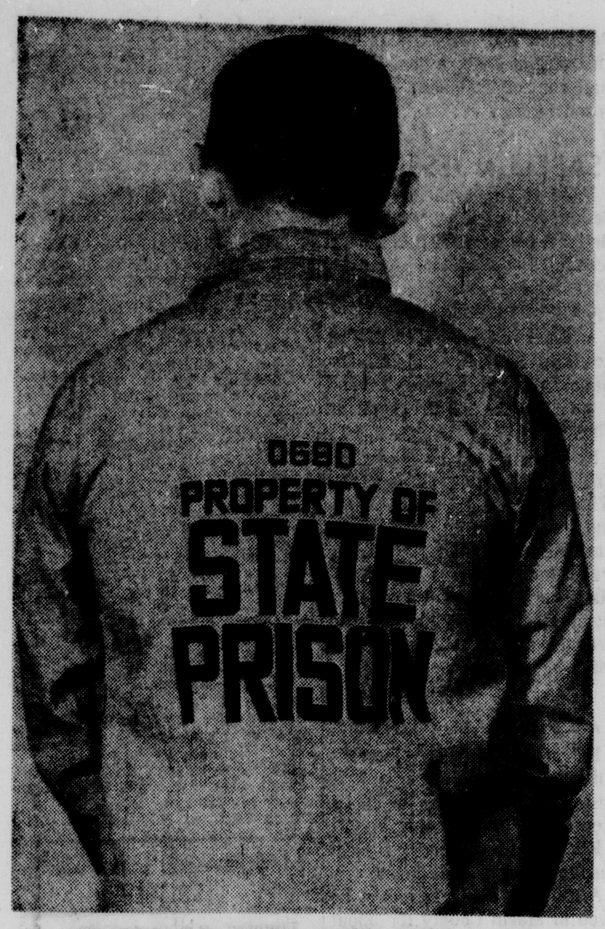

"Governments don't have ideas," he said last night at the awards banquet of the annual Westinghouse science talent search, "companies don't have ideas, laboratories don't have ideas. And — contrary to popular myth — computers don't have ideas."

Pollution of the environment, food shortages in developing nations and nuclear weapons are typical of the problems the older generation has been unable to solve, the vice president said. He summed up these three as threats "that we may choke to death, starve to death or annihilate ourselves."

PRISON SHIRTS NOT TOO SAFE

Candidates To Pay For Printing

San Rafael City Council not only refused to pay for printing candidates' statements of qualifications last night, but felt the law that permits the statements should be repealed.

A candidate is not required to have a satement printed for distribution with sample ballots, but is permitted to do so if he desires.

City Clerk W. C. Cornwell said the cost would be paid by candidates on a pro rata basis.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said, "If they want it, let them pay for it. It's an advantage to a candidate." "It's unfair," said Councilman Louis H. Baar. "Some won't put statements in."

Councilmen voted unanimously to notify the California League of Cities that they want the law repealed.

Planners Still Find Signs Tough Problem

A new, stiffer county ordinance controlling commercial signs is not going to mean much if it is not enforced, the Marin County Planning Commission was reminded yesterday by the Marin Sign Contractors Association.

Rad Ingram, representing the association, told the commission that sign makers will turn down a customer seeking a sign in violation of the ordinance. But what happens? The customer goes out of the county to have the sign made, puts it up, and no one says a thing.

The commission recommended adoption of an ordinance that will ban roof-top signs, limit height to 12 feet, restrict number of signs to two per establishment, and restrict temporary signs inside windows to cover no more than 10 per cent of the window space. The ordinance would, of course, not apply in any of Marin's 11 cities.

William McBride, Corte Madera building inspector, told the county commission that his town had a similar, tough ordinance and enforcement was not a problem. He said he has cooperation from the community.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said enforcement by the county is a problem, though.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

MARINCELLO — Learned that the long-debated Marincello School site issue may be settled Tuesday when Zucker meets with representatives of the Sausalito School District. He said a high school site shown in the original Marincello plan might be used for the elementary "campus" complex if a high school were located outside Marincello, probably in Tennessee Valley.

DIAS RANCH — Agreed on the request of Jean R. Barnard of Mill Valley to see if the Dias Ranch Master Plan for 170 acres west of Mill Valley can be amended to locate the service station, now shown on Panoramic Highway across from Tamalpais State Park, at some other site.

GAS STATION — Approved plans for a Standard Oil Co. station at Tiburon Boulevard and North Knoll Road near Tiburon. It would replace a vacant Mohawk station.

MOVIE —Took 20 minutes to watch a film of the Audubon Canyon Ranch at Bolinas.

DOCTORS' OFFICES — Approved plans for the Marinwood Medical Canter at Las Gallinas Avenue and Miller Creek Road, two buildings with space for 10 doctors.

CONTINUANCES — Put over several items, including rezoning consideration of land east and southeast of the county airport at Novato and amendment of the setback line for commercial property in Olema.

Commissioner Claude Stoller was absent.

State Frowns On Federal Auto Checks

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Republican Reagan administration and a Senate Democrat teamed up today against federal highway regulations requiring California's 10 million motorists to submit to an annual motor vehicle inspection.

They indicated approval of the current system, in which the California Highway Patrol picks out vehicles at random and pulls them over for inspection.

Chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, of the Senate Transportation Committee recommended California ignore the federal order even if Washington levies financial penalties on the state. The order takes effect Dec. 31, 1968, Luce said.

About a million vehicles were inspected in nine months of last year and 40 per cent were found defective.

Collier also said the state should ignore another federal order—one setting new highway beautification standards. He said the state would be penalized $105 million a year in federal funds if it refused to go along with Washington on beautification and safety.

U.S. Students Do Poorly Mathematics Survey Shows

CHICAGO (AP) — An international study of how well students in 12 countries learn mathematics puts U.S. pupils near the bottom of the list. But don't blame it on the "new math," one authority says.

Benjamin S. Bloom, professor of education at the University of Chicago, reported yesterday that students who had been exposed to "new math" did considerably better than those with traditional math.

The study, conducted by the International Project for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, showed that the United States is among the least effective of 12 countries tested in developing mathematics talent.

Educators cited the highly comprehensive education system in the United States and lack of opportunity to learn some phases of mathematics as reasons for the poor showing of American students.

Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University and noted critic of America's educational system, declined comment on the study because he hadn't read it. He did say, "I think that making comparisons on the basis of tests is very tricky."

The project tested some 133,000 students in 12 countries in what is believed to be the largest international educational research project ever undertaken. Japan appeared to do the best over-all job of mathematics instruction in public schools.

Bagley Seeks Simple Majority On Budget

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A constitutional amendment, which would permit the legislature to pass the budget by simple majority vote instead of two-thirds majority was introduced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

"Only three states in the union now require more than a majority vote to pass the budget," said Bagley, "and California is one of these. It is unfortunate that our state still preserves this anachronistic provision."

Bagley pointed out that under the present two-third s requirement a minority of legislators can in effect tie up the budget until major concessions are exacted on unrelated issues.

Bagley also introduced serveral other measures.

One bill would relieve cities of the cost of services to unincorporated areas and special districts, a measure suggested by and drafted with former Mill Valley City Councilamn George Blackwell.

Other measures include a bill to allow counties to consolidate duties of coroner and health officer, and one to provide that county supervisors, instead of superior court judges, may appoint and remove adult probation officers.

Bagley also introduced a bill to assess the costs of the following county services on the recipients where the recipient has the means to pay: Adoption and child custody investigation, medical attention to prisoners in county jails, services of the public defender, and general costs of imprisonment in the county jail.

Supervisors Want Help On Exhibit

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today agreed to put the county's virtues on display in the State Fair again this year, but said that the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Marin Visitors Bureau must take an interest.

The board, agreeing to put up at least $2,500 for a display, said details will be discussed further in two weeks. Supervisors invited the two booster groups to be present then to show their interest.

The decision today, a reversal of that two weeks ago, came after William Carpenter, a member of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, told the board how a display could be set up with a slide projector, recording and photo murals at about $2,500.

HOFFA

investigation where Kennedy was chief counsel.

Kennedy was in New York today as Hoffa was being taken into custody. Insisting he took no special satisfaction in the culmination of his campaign to jail Hoffa, Kennedy said:

"It's never a happy time when a man has to go to jail."

As he left the court house, Hoffa made a spitting motion to a reporter. He had his raincoat over his hands, making it impossible to determine whether he was handcuffed.

Three others convicted with Hoffa of trying to bribe jurors in the 1962 Nashville, Tenn., trial surrendered to federal marshals also.

Larry Campbell, Teamsters Detroit business agent, surrendered at 9 a.m. in Detroit, but had no comment for newsmen. Ewing King, secretary of the union's Nashville local, and Thomas E. Parks, Nashville undertaker's assistant, both surrendered in Chattanooga, Tenn.

As Hoffa moved nearer to jail, police in New York City placed a guard on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and his Manhattan apartment because of a long-standing threat on Kennedy's life if Hoffa ever went behind bars.

Courthouse Sale Snarled By Red Tape

The City of San Rafael's effort to put together an offer on the courthouse property is being delayed by red tape in Sacramento, county supervisors were told today.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said the council will make an offer on the courthouse property based on what the city can receive on its eight-acre Francisco Boulevard property, but before that can be sold, an old state restriction, specifying a portion for public use, must be lifted.

The city also wants to put through a road to provide access to canal front land which will be retained for public recreation, McInnis said.

None of the information McInnis gave the supervisors has come out at any public meeting of the San Rafael City Council.

Supervisors asked the city council to put something in writing on its intent to buy the courthouse property. Funds from the sale are needed by the county to complete payments on the Hall of Justice under construction at the Civic Center.

Guilty Plea On Bad Checks

Marie Della Mederios pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court today to two counts of possession of worthless checks with intent to defraud.

A third count was dismissed by Judge Thomas F. Keating, who scheduled sentencing for 9:30 a.m. March 27.

The California Criminal Investigation and Identification Bureau said Mrs. Mederious is wanted by 20 police departments for writing $20,000 in other bad checks.

Mrs. Mederious, 31, of Oakland, had the checks in her possession in San Rafael and Corte Madera last Nov. 6-7.

School Official Says City Conducted Dance

Dominic Robbio, principal of Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley, today asked the Independent-Journal to make clear that a dance at the Mill Valley Community and Youth Center Friday night at which two Tamalpais Valley teen-agers were arrested for possession of marijuana was sponsored by the city recreation department, not by the school.

The dance was for Edna Maguire students, but the school was not responsible for the dance, Robbio said.

Sukarno Is Defended —Civil War Feared

JARKATA (UPI)—Indonesian strongman Gen. Suharko rose to the defense of President Sukarno today in a special session of congress called to decide Sukarno's fate. Suharto has warned that any hasty anti-Sukarno action by congress could bring civil war.

Though Suharto has seized most of Sukarno's powers and indicated the president was involved in an abortive Communist coup attempt of 1965, he took a moderate stand today. He said it was not known if Sukarno was involved "unless more facts, still unknown to us, exist."

Congress convened today to consider acting on a unanimous resolution by parliament, the nation's legislative arm, to fire Sukarno from the presidency and order him tried for treason. Strongman Suharto said such strong action could bring open civil war. Congress, which includes the members of parliament, is the nation's most powerful body.

Suharto told the nation's supreme policy making body Sukarno was led by his political convictions to support the Communist plotters. But he said investigations plus Sukarno's insistence the coup was a "complete surprise" indicated the now-powerless president was not a key cog in the uprising.

Council Votes To Tow Away Cars Illegally Parked In San Rafael

San Rafael City Council last night voted to have garage owners haul illegally parked cars from tow-away zones at $8 a trip.

The tab for the unfortunate driver will be $10, including the $2 fine.

The vote to enter into an agreement with garage owners and post the tow-away zones was 3-2, with Councilmen Charles W. Aby and Louis H. Baar dissenting.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the cars towed away will be stored at the garages. He admitted drivers "will have trouble" trying to redeem their cars after 6 p.m. when garages are closed.

Andersen advised that the city "stay out of the storage business." It had been proposed last month that the cars be stored at the city corporation yard or the city hall parking lot.

There are tow-away zones on Lincoln Avenue, Irwin Street and Third Street.

Councilmen also took several actions revolving around the courthouse square property, which the city intends to purchase from Marin County.

They adopted an ordinance creating a retail commercial district, a closely restricted district, and passed to print an ordinance rezoning the courthouse square from unclassified to retail commercial.

They also adopted an ordinance rezoning an area along San Rafael Canal, including the city corporation yard, from heavy manufacturing to commercial.

The city hopes to sell its corporation yard property, about eight acres, to obtain funds to purchase courthouse square, and the new zoning is designed to make the site more saleable.

Councilmen balked at approving any more encroachment permits for community antenna television systems until they make further study.

Before the council was an application by Cable Television of Marin for an encroachment permit to serve East San Rafael and city portions of San Pedro Point. There also was a letter from Televue System Inc. which has a permit for north portions of the city, that it intended to apply for an encroachment permit for other sectors, including the sector sought by Cable Television of Marin.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini appointed a committee including Andersen, Councilman Harry A Barbier, Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles and a television expert — yet to be named — to advise the council.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

CANAL DREDGING — Heard that the Army Corps of Engineers will take soundings along San Rafael Canal and make recommendations on dredging as soon as a project in Eureka is completed.

LIBRARY ENTRANCE — Agreed that the cost of $8,400 for a new ramp entrance at the east side of the library was too high, and referred the proposal back to the library board for a simplified design.

PEACOCK GAP UNIT 6 — Upheld planning commission approval of a tentative map of Peacock Gap Unit 6, a 52-lot townhouse development by Douglas M. Christensen, which had been appealed by the San Rafael Sanitation District.

LOC HLOMOND — Heard a report from Rawles on plans for installation of a 300-foot drainage pipe in the Loch Lomond area where a channel overflowed during heavy rains in January. The pipe will be installed by the subdivider at no cost to the city, Rawles said.

ROAD DRAINAGE — Agreed that the next phase of the San should include work in improving drainage a long the stretch of road in Glenwood that was flooded during January storms.

SUBDIVISION MAP —Approved the final map of San Rafael Park Unit 4, a 52-lot subdivision south of Lucas Valley Road, submitted by Perma-Bilt Corp.

ELECTION ACTION — Passed resolutoins appointing election boards and supervisors and designating precincts and polling places for the municipal election April 10.

PERSONNEL — Hired Vivian Byers as account clerk at $400 a minth, and Audie J. Howell, as maintenance man I at $512 a month, and authorized Police Sgt. Louis Foster to attend a three-day training conference in Los Angeles, next Tuesday through Friday.

LANDSCAPING — Passed to print an ordinance amendment forbidding occupancy of a new building until required landscaping is completed.

PROPOSED LAW — Rejected a suggestion by Police Lt. Raymond F. Bleasdale that the city adopt an ordinance that would make illegal for a driver to leave car keys in his car while it is parked.

Labor Groups Sponsor $500 Scholarships

Three labor organizations are sponsoring $500 college scholarships for graduating Marin high school seniors this year.

A single two-hour examination for the scholarships will be given April 14 at high schools in the county. Applications for the test must be filed by March 20. Test results will determine the scholarship winners.

The Marin County Labor Council is offering a $500 scholarship for the 17th consecutive year. Also in its 17th straight year is the scholarship program of the California Labor Federation, offering 16 scholarships throughout the state. Two of the 16 were won by Marin students in 1966.

Two other scholarships are being offered by the Carpenters Builders Association of Southern Marin. One will go to a 1967 graduate of any Marin high school who is a child or grandchild of a member of Carpenters Local 35 or Millmen Local 2095. The other will go to a 1967 graduate of Tamalpais High School who is a child or grandchild of a former member of Carpenters Local 1719, which is now merged with Local 35.

Innocent Plea On Grand Theft

Dave Townsel Jr., 20, of Larkspur, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a grand theft charge.

A motion for dismissal of the complaint on grounds of insufficient evidence was scheduled by Judge Joseph G. Wilson for hearing June 12.

Townsel allegedly stole merchandise worth over $200 from Harold Smith in Sausalito on Jan. 9. He originally was charged with concealing stolen property.

Cardrooms Banning Is Rejected

San Rafael city councilmen took no action last night to ban cardrooms.

The idea of banning cardrooms was broached two weeks ago after the council rejected a bid by Irving B. Litchfield for an eight-table cardroom at 719 Francisco Boulevard.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said he favored banning cardrooms, but fellow council members felt that cardrooms could be controlled by denying permits.

Bettinin said, "I can't see how you can give to one and not another."

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said the council could determine that a cardroom "would be injurious to the public health, safety, welfare or morals."

Councilman Charles W. Aby said cardrooms provide "a form of entertainment for single men who have no other social outlet." It is only when "outsiders take advantage" that there are problems, he said. "It wouldn't be desirable to do away with cardrooms completely."

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said five cardroom licenses have been issued, but only one cardroom is operating, with two tables.

One Year Jail Term On Forgery

A one-year county jail term was meted out to Johnnie Clyde Gray, 29, in Marin Superior Court yesterday for forgery.

Gray, of San Francisco, had pleaded guilty Dec. 13 to forging a $148 check Oct. 29 to defraud David C. Little in Mill Valley.

SNOOP

Peeking through the plate-glass into the almost-built Co-op Marin Center are a couple of small sidewalk engineers: Erica Hendrick, 4, (merry) and Cory Van Gelder, 5, (meditative), both of Marinwood. They're watching the finishing touches put on Co-op Marin's Kiddie Korral. (Co-op Marin opens next week in Corte Madera.)

It's possible that there are a few Marin mothers who haven't yet heard about the Kiddie Korrals in all eight Bay area Co-op centers. Cory's mother, Mrs. Walter Van Gelder (14 years a Co-op member) would like these mothers to know that Kiddie Korrals are the greatest boon to housewives since sliced bread.

"While their mothers shop, children have a great time with crafts, songs, games . . . under expert supervision," says Betty Jo Van Gelder. "This means that mothers can put their full concentration on their shopping. It's a unique Co-op service."

School Service Budget Tentatively $416,592

A county school service fund budget of $416,592 was approved last night by the Marin County Board of Education, but the figure is only an estimate until state officials tell the county how much money will be allocated.

The budget is a "holding budget" based on an anticipated 4 per cent increase in state funds, a 5 percent increase in classified salaries, and a 3 per cent increase in certificated salaries, County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis said.

The "very uncertain financial picture in Sacramento" makes it impossible to put in firm budget figures now, he said.

The budget is up 5.9 per cent from last year's $393,320, although no staff increases are authorized. Two-thirds of the service fund budget comes from state funds and the other third is paid by school districts.

Hollis said he will give the board precise budget figures when the state sets its contribution.

The next public hearings on the general plan will be at 7:30 p.m. April 12 and 25 at the Women's Club in Fairfax. The plan for the central business district will be presented at the April 25 meeting.

Open house by the Knights of Columbus, Fourth Degree, will be held at the Marist Seminary, 1675 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, tomorrow at 8 p.m. Principal speakers will be John J. Enright, past master; Kenneth Franceschi, faithful navigator, and Rev. Samuel DiGeralamo.

More Mature Youth Rec Events Asked

The Corte Madera Town Council last night asked for more recreation programs oriented to teen-age groups, less "baby-sitting" programs, and more information on programs.

The town contracts with the Larkspur recreation department for its recreation program, and councilmen complained that they are not given enough information on the programs for which the town is paying.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton said the program is geared too much to pre-school and young school-age children. "I am unalterably opposed to the council's sponsoring 'baby-sitting' programs," he said.

He said the Larkspur recreation department "should at least give us an outline of the programs they plan. I think the intent . . . is supposed to be to provide programs that will cut down in juvenile delinquency."

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff agreed the council should not give "carte blanch approval until we know what the programs will be."

At Mayor Edward W. Colthurst's suggestion, the council asked that Larkspur recreation director Robert C. Bundy attend the next council meeting.

Probation, Jail Term On Burglary

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday gave Hezekiah Murphy, 42, a nine-month county jail term and placed him on two years probation for burglary.

Murphy and Harold Donnie Burton, 27, both of Richmond, pleaded guilty Feb. 7 to breaking into San Geronimo National Golf Club last July 19. Sentencing of Burton is pending.

Belvedere To Seek Advice On Cove Road Situation

It was Cove Road vs. Lagoon Road at last night's Belvedere City Council meeting.

The council, caught in the middle, decided to seek advice from a traffic engineer.

Since 1964, there has been a sign prohibiting left turns from Tiburon Boulevard into Cove Road. Across the boulevard, there is no restriction on turning right into Lagoon Road.

City Mgr. William L. Vavalli and Police Chief William S. Woodington recommended last night that the sign be removed.

Objecting strongly, James H. Ewert produced a report of a survey by the Cove Road Property Owners Association showing traffic had diminished on both Cove and Lagoon roads since the sign was installed. He asked that it remain.

Lagoon Road residents promptly retorted that both traffic and speeding have increased.

John Pelkan said it took Cove Road property owners 13 months to get the road close to entering traffic and they want it to stay that way.

It was former Councilman Edwin G. Weed who came up with the proposal that the council hire a traffic engineer to study the problem. Councilmen promptly agreed — and while he is at it, suggested Councilman Thomas S. Price, the enginerr might look into other Belvedere traffic problems also, if the cost is not too high.

Sheep-Killing Dogs Reported

Another sheep was killed yesterday by a dog in Novato, police reported.

About 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Verna L. Dow of 11 Dow Lane called police to report a Labrador dog was killing a sheep at the rear of her home. She identified the dog as belonging to Janet Lee Goin of 611 McClay Road, Novato, police said.

Because the killing occured just outside the city limits, the information was turned over to the couny sheriff's office.

The sheep belonged to Mrs. Barbara P. Kingsley of 44 Jade Court, Novato, police said.

Earlier yesterday two dogs had killed two sheep belonging to Mrs. Kingsley at 680 McClay Road.

CDC Studying Coalition In Democratic Ranks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Democratic Council (CDC) may form a coalition with moderate elements of the Democratic Party, the CDC's Northern vice president says.

"The New Left won't like this;" Roy Greenaway said yesterday, "they will say we are selling out again. But no matter how much we may sympathize with the civil rights movement or the farm workers movement, their tactics should not be our tactics."

Greenaway, of Fresno, made his statement for consideration by CDC leaders before their convention opens Friday in Fresno.

He called the CDC's state council "top heavy and generally useless" because it "does so little to promote the political aims and effectiveness of individual clubs."

$800,000 Is Paid In Contract Breach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Shirley MacLaine has been given $800,000 for a role in a movie she never made.

Superior Judge Ernest J. Zack awarded the summary judgment yesterday against 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. for breach of contract.

Report Urges Fifth Category

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sex should be included in California's laws against discrimination in jobs, says the California Advisory Commission on the Status of Women.

The report yesterday to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature noted the Fair Employment Practice Act prohibits job discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

A fifth category — "sex"— should be added, the report suggests. The commission also recommends retaining the eight-hour work day for women.

Mike Fay Exhibit

A one-man painting show by Mike Fay of Kentfield will be exhibited by Patrick Brothers Art Supplies of 2 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo, from Sunday to April 2. Fay recently completed art study at the University of the Americas in Mexico City. This will be his first Marin showing.

West Marin Master Plan Nearly Settled

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday appeared about ready to adopt at last the much-debated West Marin master plan.

But there was confusion over the extent of the area at the south end of Tomales Bay where the commission wanted open marshland for a bird refuge as the first alternative in the plan.

Earlier commission action said that the area bounded by Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and the preposed realignment of Shoreline Highway should be purchased for a bird refuge. Trouble was that after that action, the commission decided that Shoreline Highway should be realigned to run east, rather than west of Point Reyes Station. This would enlarge the area proposed for county purchase.

The commission decided the matter should be put over until March 20 to allow the land owner, Waldo Giacomini, to be heard. However, commissioners said alignment of Shoreline Highway shown on the master plan was not a fixed thing and would be subject to change. This satisfied Van Norden Logan, planner for a group of property owners from Millerton Point to Marconi Cove who want to put homes, golf course, marina, and small air strip on the land.

The earthquake issue again arose in yesterday's discussion. The commission agreed, with Commissioner Michael Praszker putting up a lone and strong dissent, that the board of supervisors be told that plan could be subject to change as more information develops on the hazards of earthquake rift zones.

Praszker said the commission should stick by its earlier request for a committee to study the quake situation. The board of supervisors voted this down.

Praszker than abstained from voting on other recommendations in the plan.

"The plan seems to be very favorable to real estate and to birds, at least some birds, but it is not in the best interest of Marin County," Praszker declared.

Who Is Chester? It's Not Charles

San Rafael City Councilman Charles W. Aby isn't too keen about being identified as Chester.

Aby announced at a council session last night, that contrary to stories in the Independent-Journal, "My first name is still Charles."

The Independent-Journal erroneously listed him as Chester W. Aby in stories yesterday and Friday about the April 10 city election.

Building Fees

Fees totaling $1,151 were collected during February by Mill Valley's Building Department, reported building inspector Loren K. Rohde. Twenty-six building permits were issued for work valued at $62,146. During February, 1966, 15 building permits were issued for work valued at $104,710.

Planners Give Extra Time On Retaining Wall Order

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday split 4-2 in granting extension of time for Francis Gelardi to comply with requirements for a retaining wall and landscaping on an excavation at Tamalpais Junction where he intended to put a gas station.

The station plans have fallen through and construction of a retaining wall has been delayed.

The commission said plans must be in by June and the wall completed by September. Commissioners Michael Praszker and Margaret Azevedo, voted against the extension, saying the improvement bond on Gelardi should be called now and the wall built. Commissioner Claude Stoller was absent.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said large boulders have come down the cut and the wall must have some kind of bench at the top to stop this rolling rock.

Guilty Plea On Check Charges

Paul William Schuman, 41, of 110 G Street, San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday to passing four worthless checks totaling $117.02 during December.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court dismissed a second count charging a worthless $107 check, and scheduled sentencing for March 27.

Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce has Edward M. Mills as president.

School Service Budget Tentatively $416,592

A county school service fund budget of $416,592 was approved last night by the Marin County Board of Education, but the figure is only an estimate until state officials tell the county how much money will be allocated.

The budget is a "holding budget" based on an anticipated 4 per cent increase in state funds, a 5 percent increase in classified salaries, and a 3 per cent increase in certificated salaries, County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis said.

The "very uncertain financial picture in Sacramento" makes it impossible to put in firm budget figures now, he said.

The budget is up 5.9 per cent from last year's $393,320, although no staff increases are authorized. Two-thirds of the service fund budget comes from state funds and the other third is paid by school districts.

Hollis said he will give the board precise budget figures when the state sets its contribution.

Gnoss Seeks Study On Hillside Building

County Supervisor William A. Gnoss today asked for a special county study on the hazards involved in hillside contsruction, and suggested the county look into hiring a geologist.

No one remarked that the proposal was similar to the planning commission's request to look into building hazards involved around earthquake rift zones, which supervisors voted down 3-2 with Gnoss among the majority.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said he thought the cost of soil tests and inspections should be born by the developer. Gnoss's proposal was referred to the planning and public works departments for study.

Gnoss said he thought a geologist might be hired and made available to cities.

McInnis said recommendations of a soils engineer on the apartments in San Anselmo, destroyed by the Red Hill slide in January, had not been followed by the builder.

Novato Board Battles Drug Use In School

Marijuana and LSD are problems at Novato High School, Novato Unified School District trustees declared last night.

At suggestion of Supt. James G. Bunker, the district health committee will be enlarged to see if it can cope with the situation. Bunker suggested that Chief of Police Robert di Grazia and perhaps a second police officer and a juvenile probation officer be added to the committee.

Board members expressed hope this would help.

The Novato Univied School District board also:

SITE S— Approved application for $950,924 state loan for an elementary school site in San Marin, and authorized a search for sites for additional elementary and junior high schools in San Marin and east of Highway 101.

COMPARISON — Received a tabulated comparison of Novato with 20 other Bay Area unified school districts showing that Novato had an average cost per pupil of $505 compared to $567 for all of the districts.

HOLIDAYS — Approved the same paid holidays for non-teaching employees as for teachers.

EASEMENT — Granted Novato Sanitary District an easement across the Hill Junior High School property for $740.

COURSES — Approved giving international cookery, stenotyping and United States problems in Asia as new courses in the evening adult high school.

INTERVIEWS — Set March 14 for interviewing applicants for the Novato High School principalship.

Lot Size Public Hearing Is Set

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night set a public hearing April 3 at 8 p.m. at Town Hall on increasing the city minimum lot size from 5,000 to 7,500 square feet.

L. W. Rabjohn's application for a two-lot subdivision at 90 Spring Grove Avenue was approved. The commission, noting that this is a slide area, asked him to have soil tests made and install a retaining wall if tests indicate it is needed, and required a $2,500 bond to cover drainage installation.

W. A. Landtbom's request to construct a building at 111 Red Hill Avenue was denied. Herbert P. Prischmann's request for a permit for an auto repair shop at 634 San Anselmo Avenue was granted.

Disagreement Over Hiring Of Firemen

A disagreement between a Corte Madera Town Councilman and the town manager over procedures for hiring firemen came to light at last night's council session, and the council decided to hire only one fireman instead of the two promised last November.

On Nov. 7 the council directed Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to hire two firemen, one by Dec. 15 and the other by February or March. The council asked that Usher, Police-Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson, and Councilmen Harold B. Wagstaff and Charles F. Pendleton decide on procedures for testing applicants.

Wagstaff last night questioned the procedure Usher had used in testing applicants.

Usher said he had used state written, oral and physical tests, giving the greatest weight to written tests. He said 12 applicants had taken the tests, including two Corte Madera volunteer firemen. Four of the 12 passed the written test, but both the volunteer firemen failed it.

Usher said he had offered employment to one, Charles W. Ralston of 708 Butternut Drive, San Rafael, who passed the test. The council agreed to hire Ralston at $556 a month to start in April.

Wagstaff had objected because one of the volunteer firemen scored much higher on the physical tests than the second man Usher planned to hire.

Councilman Pendleton solved the dispute temporarily by proposing the town hire only Ralston and "sit on it for awhile" before deciding procedure for hiring a second fireman. The council agreed.

"We should have a consistent policy," Councilman Holmes S. Norville objected. "I can't see why it should be so difficult to hire a fireman."

Planners Give Go-Ahead On Land Rezoning

Tiburon Planning Commission yesterday gave Tiburon Properties, the go-ahead to file for rezoning of nine acres near Hacienda Drive to include 14 homesites and a community recreation area.

The corporation had asked for direction because of a previous rezoning considered in the same area.

Decision was deferred on a master plan from Frank Hoffman for a commercial-porfessional complex near the Safeway Store. The commission wants to wait for city council action on the downtown plan, according to Phil V. Scott, development administrator.

A "motel" definition for the zoning ordinance was referred to the city's planning consultant, George Gatter.

Decision on a sign ordinance was postponed until the next regular meeting, April 3. The commission agreed to meet with the parks and recreation commission at 7 p.m. before that meeting to discuss a new policy for acquisition of public land for parks.

The commission set a study session for tomorrow at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Youths Trapped In House Face Burglary Charge

Four youths were arrested last night by sheriff's officers after they were caught inside a vacant and unfurnished Santa Venetia house.

Booked in county jail for investigation of burglary were Ronald B. Goodrich, 18, of 429 Elm Avenue, Larkspur, and Ricky Bee Deem, 19, of 814 Hacienda Way, San Rafael.

Their two companions, aged 16 and 17, were taken to Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Deputies said the four were found at 618 Vendola Drive, a house owned by Roy D. Dotto Jr. of 867 Patricia Way, San Rafael, about 10 p.m. by a neighbor, Ernest G. Lyons of 66 Vendola Drive.

Lyons, Dotto, and Roy D. Dotto Sr. of 31 Clorinda Avenue, San Rafael, held the youths until officers arrived. No loot was taken, officers said.

Petaluma Men Killed In Crash Of Small Plane

SAN FRNCISCO (AP)—Two Petaluma men died yesterday in the crash of their private plane into shallow water on a landing approach at San Francisco International Airport.

The San Mateo County coroner withheld identification until the wrecked craft is raised and the bodies recovered. Divers said the two bodies were trapped in the plane by the engine jammed back into the cabin.

Business associates at Petaluma said the victims were Marshall Richardson, operator of H. & N. Hatcheries, and Paul Bundeson, Petaluma real estate man.

Cash, Checks Stolen

Theft of $40 in cash and stamps and $18,000 in checks was reported yesterday to Sausalito police by Heath Ceramics, 400 Gate Five Road. Entry was through an unlocked window, police said.

Checkup Ordered

The San Anselmo library board decided yesterday to have a structural engineer check a crack above the main entrance to the library, which appeared after January's rain, to see if repairs are needed.

Brody, 37, who earlier accused Miss Mansfield of committing adultery with Brody, charged that her husband "has been exposing" their son, Keith, 9, to the actress and that the boy has been allowed to play with Miss Mansfield's pet ocelot while unsupervised by an adult. The Brodys also have a daughter, Elizabeth, 3.

Brody currently is representing Miss Mansfield in her divorce suit against Matt (Cimber) Ottaviano.

Mill Valley Decides On Future City Limits

Mill Valley City Council last night adopted a map of "future city limits" to extend through Tennessee Valley to the Pacific Ocean and include Marincello, Tamalpais and Homestead Valleys, Almonte, Alto and all of Strawberry Point.

The County Local Agency Formation Commission asked each city to submit a map of what it considers its future city limits. The commission is to use the maps as guides on future annexations.

Marin Cith should be incorporated within either Mill Valley or Sausalito, councilmen agreed. Annexation of the community to one of the two cities would give it "better local representation" and "better planning control, and is the most efficient way to provide urban services," said Councilman Dean N. Meyer.

Marin City could not incorporate under present guidelines of the LAFC, noted City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer.

Vote on the map was 4-1, Vice Mayor George E. Wickham objecting that the day may come when only one of five Mill Valley councilmen would be from the present city area. "We will lose control over Mill Valley as much as we gain control over Southern Marin," he said.

With the exception of Marincello, the proposed city limits are similar to an annexation request filed by the city last August, but later withdrawn. The annexation is expected to be filed again if the map is adopted by the commission.

Quentin School Budget Cutback To Be Fought

Marin County Board of Education attempted last night to head off a threatened 15 per cent budget cut for San Quentin Prison's Bayview Schools.

The board directed County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis and board president Patrick W. Pollock to write the State Department of Corrections protesting the reduced budget.

The state has indicated it intends to allocate $214,335 for the schools this year, compared to last year's budget of $251,770. The cuts will force the schools to drop three teachers and pare the number of classes offered at the prison, the board was told by Daryl A. Hopkins, director of residential education at the prison and principal of Bayview schools.

"It is highly questionable at this moment" if the schools could hold their accreditation from the Western Association of Schools and Colleges with a reduced program, Hopkins said.

He said, the budget cut would leave only one teacher for the 196 illiterates at San Quentin. There are now four.

Board member James A. Carroll suggested the night school program could be dropped so there would be money enough to maintain a strong daytime program. Hopkins said the Department of Corrections want to maintain a full program.

"But they don't want to pay for it," said Carroll.

Planning Staff Role Worries On Supervisor

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen is worried that the county planning staff is taking on too much responsibility.

In a memo to planning director Paul C. Zucker, the supervisor said he feared that new structures in Marin, under design control of the county staff, might end up looking alike.

Zucker answered that it was not his intent to design any buildings. He said he and his staff will encourage good design, improve acceptable design, and deny poor design.

Zucker showed copies of the exchange to the planning commission yesterday. The commission had little comment.

Race For School Chief Narrowed

A panel of educators screening applicants for superintendent of Mill Valley School District will recommend finalists today to district trustees in a closed meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the district office, 26 Miller Avenue.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis declined yesterday to say how many finalists the committee would recommend. He has been coordinating the screening committee's work.

The committee selected 20 of the 69 who applied for interviews Friday and Saturday at San Francisco Airport. The applicants were from all over the nation, Hollis said.

Trustees are to start interviewing finalists next week. Selection is expected by April 1.

Air Force Awards Several Contracts

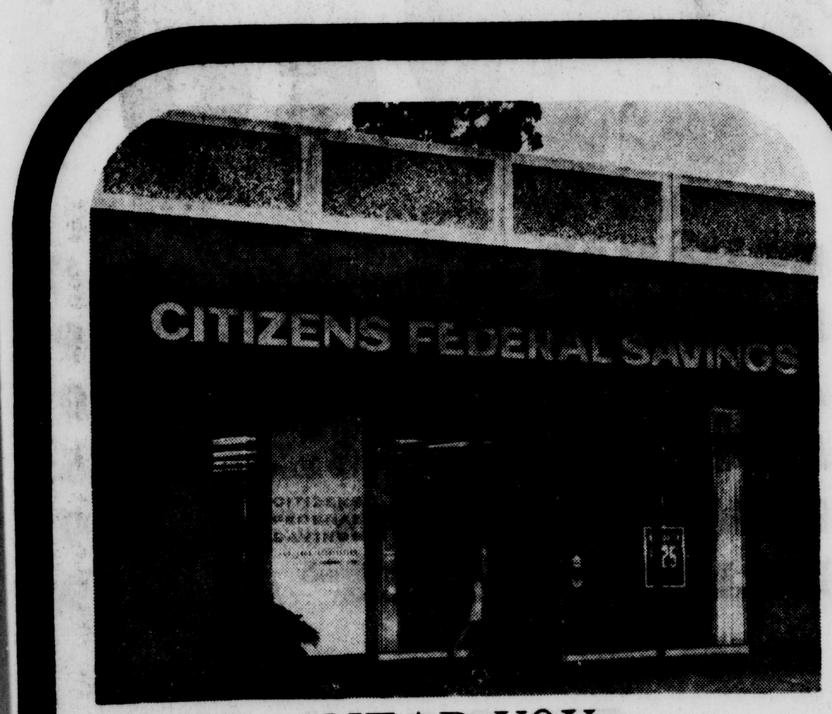

A $13,520 contract was awarded to Malott and Peterson of Berkeley to repair roofs of several buildings at Hamilton Air Force Base yesterday by the base procurement office.

Murray Baxter of San Rafael was awarded a $3,958 contract to replace three overhead doors at the Point Arena Air Force Station. A $4,963 contract for a telephone key system at Mill Valley Air Force Station was awarded to Western Electric Corp. of New York, and a $42,781 contract to paint buildings at Mill Valley Air Force Station went to Robert McMullan and Sons of San Diego.

Alice Jean Geider To Wed Thomas A. Kramer In June

Mr. and Mrs. Ren Twichell Sr. of North Hollywood are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Alice Jean Geider, to Thomas A. Kramer of San Rafael.

The bride-elect was graduated from Hollywood High School and Brigham Young University. She is the sister of Mrs. Robert Zuber of North Hollywood and Polly and Ren Twitchell Jr. of North Hollywood.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kramer of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is presently a student at the Western State Electronic Engineering College in Inglewood. Bernadette and William Kramer of San Rafael are his sister and brother.

A June wedding is planned.

Yacht Club To Go Mod On Saturday

The Sausalito Yacht Club will go Mod from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. on Saturday at a dance honoring junior members of the club and members of the sailing training program and their guests.

Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. William New, spokesmen for the women's auxiliary sponsoring the event, announced that the wildest rock'n roll band available has been engaged for the evening's fun.

Barbara Lischeske of Mill Valley is reservations chairman, and Bob and John Amen and Dan Marshall will create special decorations and lighting effects for the event.

The purpose of the junior membership and sailing training programs at the Sausalito Yacht Club is to promote sailing and racing among children between the ages of 11 and 18.

There are beginner and intermediate classes as well as an advanced class for the older students who have attained "skipper" rating.

Club officer in charge of the program is Sydney Messer of Sausalito. Robert Van Blaricom, Jean Nooney and Sarah Davis are the instructors on the fleet of eight small sailing sloops provided by the club exclusively for the juniors' use.

New students receive their initial instruction on a 33-foot Vanguard sloop provided by Col-Brookner Brady.

'Montmartre' Theme For League Dance

The Family Service League will have a "Night in Montmartre" dinner dance at the Meadow Club on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. with 15 paintings donated by Marin artists to be awarded.

Red geraniums in green pots and red, yellow and orange balloons will decorate easels on which the paintings will be displayed. Table centerpieces of green palettes with yellow candles and paper flowers in yellow, orange, and red will carry out the art theme.

Chairman for the dance is Mrs. Edward Bulkley of San Rafael. Assisting her will be Mesdames Raye Murray, decorations chairman; Edward Maxwell, invitations chairman; Ken Coburn, reservations chairman; Bruce Stilson, paintings chairman and Stephen Henderson, music chairman.

Proceeds from the dance will help support the Family Service Agency of Marin.

'Focus On American Women' Topic Of Sisterhood Panel

"Focus of American Women," a Bay area panel of women of divergent racial and religious backgrounds, will present a program to a combined meeting of Rodef Sholom Sisterhood members and the Women's Society of Christian Services of San Rafael Methodist Church on Thursday at 1 p.m. at Congregation Rodef Sholom, Santa Venetia.

Negro, Oriental, Spanish-American, Catholic, Jew, Protestant — each member of the group will give her own point of view on living in today's complex world. Mrs. David McElhatton will be moderator and Mesdames Marvin Kirchner, Joseph Stokes, James Colwell, Nicolas Iyoya and Thomas Dietrich, panelists. A question and answer period will follow.

Autonomous, unsponsored and strictly volunteer, "Focus" is in its second year, having appeared before civic, fraternal, church and social groups. Preservation of ethnic and theological values and appreciation for the rich variety of culture, custom and history in America is the panel's goal.

Grant Morse To Speak On Conservation

Conservation Week will be observed at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley Thursday following a salad and sandwich luncheon served from 12:30 p.m. to 1 p.m.

Election of a nominating committee for next year's officers will follow the program.

Mrs. Thomas E. Welsh, chairman of the civics and conservation section, will present Grant Morse, assistant regional forester of the U. S. Forest Service. He will speak on "America, The Beautiful?" using slides to illustrate.

Morse is in charge of the information and education for the U. S. Forest Service in California region, which covers one-fifth of the area of California forests divided among 17 national forests.

He has been with the service more than 30 years and feels that American forests are an area of beauty about something can be done. Fire is the most destructive problem, since last year 5,700 fires destroyed 300,000 acres.

Mrs. Charles Laird, chairman for the home-day luncheon, will be assisted by Mesdames William Moen, David Allison, Melie John Coutlee, Donald Fleenor, Edward Simons and Roland Herbert and Miss Alice Zander.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Seemingly Big Problem About Who's In Wedding May Dissolve

DEAR HELEN:

I'm going to be married in about a year. Like any girl, I want a gorgeous white gown and to walk up the church aisle on my father's arm.

But here is my problem: My very closest friend is of another religion, and I don't think it would be proper for her to take part in my ceremony. I don't have any other really close friends or relatives old enough to be in the wedding party. My mother says to ask Miss R., but I don't know her very well, except through church, and she never grooms herself. I'm afraid she might make me ashamed on my wedding day, by being a maid of honor with hair looking like a fright and no heels.

Can you have a church wedding without any attendants? — O.E.R.

DEAR O.:

. . . Possibly, but it would be as incomplete as a mini-skirted bridal gown.

Why not ask your close friend. Seems to me you're building an unnecessary wall. She doesn't need to embrace your religion, simply because she is in your wedding party. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

All my folks think about is for me to get into a career that "makes money." I don't happen to think money is that important — it just causes a lot of worries about income tax and stuff. My idea of a good life is to travel around and work whenever I need something, but not go after the dollar like it was a god. They think I'm a beatnik. What do you think? — NON-CONFORMISTS

DEAR NON:

W-e-e-l, let's say the door to a successful life isn't always opened by money, but it sure as heck greases the hinges! Why not travel around for a year after you finish school, and then try for a career? By that time — you'll be ready! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I think I know what your answer wll be: Forget her. Believe me, I've tried. For the past year I've tried.

She thought we would hit it off just fine. For three weeks, we did. Then she dropped me cold.

I've told only one other person (besides you) how I feel. That is my best buddy. The same thing happened to him, with another girl.

So we're both in the same boat. I've had eight female companions since then but they're so much water over the dam.

If it helps any, my age is 15 and it is not infatuation! — L.E.O

DEAR L:

When a boy wants to win a girl back, he must prove he is no longer the boy she dropped. Show her how foolish she was, by making a name for yourself at school. Get ambitious. Get involved. Get known as the guy any girl would want to date. It will take a while, but if you work at it, by next year, she'll be waiting in line. . . . And by that time, I'll bet you really will have forgotten her! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

This is a letter to "Overworked." I am in the sixth grade now and I don't think that a 10-page term paper is that much at all. Last year our teacher gave us a term paper to do that had to be at least 15 pages long. At the same time, we had another assignment in history, to write at least one page on each state, plus collect pictures. I had 239 pages and got an "A" —and I think they were fun to do!

I think "Overworked" is overperked about school work! — LIKES IT

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

President Of Novato Guild Is Involved In Art Work

MRS. JACK MIKLOS

President of Sunny Hills Guild 2 of Novato for this year is Mrs. Jack Miklos, a charter member five years ago.

Diane Miklos and her husband, Jack, who is employed with the pipe division of John Mansville Co. moved to Marin County 10 years ago. They have two daughters, Kristine, 8, and Kari, 3 years of age.

Much of Diane's leisure time is taken up with art work. She is taking a course at Novato High School Evening School and hopes someday to write a children's book, making her own figures and having them photographed. Diane makes a dough of flour, salt and water, imprints the dough and bakes the various figures. The characters have big round Scandinavian faces.

She has sent blank notebooks to her grandmother in Minnesota, who was born in Norway, to relate her early experiences when she lived in a sod house. These stories will be used in Diane's book.

Several of the store fronts on Grant Avenue were the idea of Mrs. Miklos who wants to keep the feeling of old town Novato alive.

Diane also belongs to the paperback Book Club of Novato and she enjoys weekend camp-outs, gardening and her banty chickens.

The new president was graduated from the University of Minnesota and did graduate work at San Jose State College in occupational therapy. She hopes to do volunteer work in convalescent homes when her youngest daughter is a little older.

The guild will have a new fund raising project this year under the guidance of Mrs. James Studley, Mrs. Fred Nelson and Mrs. L. V. Jacobsen. A silent auction is planned, combined with boutique and hand crafts sale to be held in the fall. The guild will also participate in the Grape Festival.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Miklos are Mesdames Robert Dougherty, vice president; Harold Craig, secretary; James Harrington, treasurer, and James Cermak and Floyd Bevan, Grape Festival co-chairmen.

Novato Hospital Volunteers Elect

The Novato Hospital Volunteer Service elected Mrs. Robert Weber as president for the year and presented hour awards.

Dr. Robert Dougherty presented the awards to Mrs. Gerald Lombard, 1,000 hours; Mrs. Harley McAskill and Mrs. Louis Ondrasek, 250 hours, and Mrs. Earl Chronister, 100 hours.

Volunteer Of Month Is Chosen For Cheerfulness, Reliability

The Volunteer Bureau of Marin is breaking the tradition of the unsung hero by proclaiming Mrs. E. L. Caillat of San Rafael as Volunteer of the Month. Mrs. Caillat has not launched any brilliant new programs, nor does she head any organization. She is a cheerful, busy, reliable volunteer.

MRS. E. L. CAILLAT

Theresa Caillat, her teen-aged daughter, Marie, and a teen-aged friend registered at the bureau in July, 1964, three months after it opened. She told Mrs. Marion Kelley, its executive director, that her interests were sewing, driving, and working with handicapped children. All three volunteers were sent to the Shakespeare Theatre, where they conquered a costume crisis.

Although this accident was Mrs. Caillat's introduction to the Volunteer Bureau, it was merely the beginning of her volunteer activities. When Marie, now 18, was a Bluebird, Mrs. Caillat became a leader for two years. Promotion for Marie to Camp Fire Girl meant, for Theresa, Camp Fire leader for three years. Her reliability and tenacity as a volunteer are repeated in jobs she is doing now: Since 1964, officer helper at the Tuberculosis Association; since 1965, sewing instructor to adults at MARC's (Marin Aid to Retarded Children) Training Center and to teen-aged girls in Magnolia Park, a center for handicapped and retarded children in Lucas Valley.

Tuesday morning she works in the Kindergarten for the Mentally Retarded class in Santa Venetia. Tuesday afternoon she goes to MARC for two hours. On Wednesday she spends three to four hours at the TB Association. Thursday morning she is at Magnolia Park. She has Monday and Friday off, and she is home every day by 2:30 p.m., when her youngest child gets home from school.

In addition to these jobs, Mrs. Caillat is on the bureau's "spot job" list. She has done sewing for the Red Cross, Sonoma State Hospital, and a guild of Catholic Social Service. She is on call at Juvenile Hall to drive children to and from appointments.

Mrs. Caillat's husband is a self-employed carpenter in San Rafael and they have two children.

Utilities Burial Law Need Urged

The Corte Madera Town Council last night agreed on two approaches to accomplish the undergrounding of utility lines in Corte Madera.

The countil appointed Public Works Director Arthur N. Morrison, Planning Commission Chairman Norman V. Eaton and Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to a committee to study undergrounding, and asked City Attorney Sherrod S. Davis to prepare an ordinance to require it.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. both supported the committee idea — and both opposed the ordinance.

Donald Johnson, district manager for PG&E, suggested the committee decide which areas in town should have utility lines either streamlined or put underground and determine the priority. The two companies would then be able to estimate the cost of the work, he said.

Usher noted that this does not solve the problem of how the work will be paid for, but he said the committee would help to set a direction for accomplishing the work.

Johnson said he does not believe an ordinance requiring undergrounding would be legal. The city attorney differed, although noting the issue has never been clearly settled in court.

The council had been considering an ordinance prepared by Marin County, but asked Davis to prepare an ordinance specifically for Corte Madera. Last night's public hearing on the ordinance was continued to April 17.

Councilman registered emphatic disagreement with Marin County Supervisor Peter Behr's proposal for a rapid transit bus line on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way.

"This would be like digging a tube under the English Channel with shovels. It wouldn't scratch the surface," Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff exclaimed.

"I am unalterably opposed to it, or unequivocally, or however you want to put it most emphatically opposed," Councilman Charles F. Pendleton said.

Corte Madera Town Counil Also:

BERKELE YCO-OP — Passed a resolution annexing to Corte Madera the Berkeley Co-Operative property on Tamal Vista Boulevard, and part of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way, a total of 8.4 acres.

ENCROACHMENTS — Adopted an ordinance regulating encroachments on public rights of way.

SIDEWALKS — Asked Councilmen Collier and Holmes S. Norville to meet with the public works department to study problems of sidewalk repair and to report to the council in April.

PARKING — Prohibited parking on the north side of Buena Vista Avenue between Sausalito Street and Prospect Lane.

STOR MDRAIN — Awarded a contract to install a 54-inch storm drain on Conow Street between Meadowstreet and Casa Buena Drives to low bidder Maggiora and Ghilotti Inc. for $11,124.

SANFORD ANNEXATION — Set public hearing for March 20 at 8:30 p.m. on annexation of the Sanford property on Meadowsweet Drive.

MEADOWSWEET DRIVE — Called for bids March 31 at 2 p.m. at Town Hall on installation of curbs, gutters and pavement on part of Meadowsweet Drive.

BEAUTIFICATION — Passed a resolution for a contract for a federal grant of $15,250 for uban beautification projects in the town park, civic center and on Paradise Drive.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Declined to participate in a project of county support for local senior citizen activities, but asked Usher to write to Corte Madera organizations to notify them that San Rafael's senior citizen activities are open to anyone in Marin County.

Council Votes $9,000 For Project 17 Plan

Mill Valley City Council last night voted $9,000 as its share of the cost of planning the Project 17 area with the Mill Valley School District as a "middle school" and city recreation facility.

Vote to sign the joint city-school contract with landscape architects Royston, Hanamoto, Mayes and Beck was 4-0, Vice Mayor George E. Wickham abstaining vecause of "a conflict of interest." Wickham, an engineer, said his firm works with companies which may provide engineering data necessary to master plan the site.

School district trustees signed the contract early in January, but councilmen delayed action pending estimates on cost of engineering data. The landscape architects' fee previously was set at $10,300.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala last night estimated minimum engineering data would cost $7,840. Title search costs would be additional, he said.

A map with a survey, originally requested by the landscape architects, would cost an additional $10,700, Bala estimated. The landscape architects agreed last week however, that a map without a survey would be adequate for preliminary planning. Bala said the survey would be necessary later if a school is to be built on the 35-acre site.

School district trustees last week voted to hold an election June 13 on a bond measure of more than $3 million to build the "middle school" and improve existing schools.

Wickham argued last night the city should pay for less than half of the master plan because the 12,000 city residents are taxed by both the city and school district, while the 8,000 school district residents outside the city but within the district would only pay once for the study. Councilmen agreed, however, that the planning cost should be shared evenly, but made it clear that Wickham's point will be considered in setting a formula for sharing cost of developing the site.

There is no doubt that soils on the site are strong enough to support a school, Bala told councilmen. "The main objective of the soils test," he said, "is to recommend place and cost of a school."

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

EASTER—Granted use of the parking lot behind the bus depot to the chamber of commerce and Citizens Help Association to Rejuvenate Mill Valley for an Easter art show to promote the proposed paint-up, clean-up of commercial areas, and authorized City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer to pay $90 for city participation in the paint-up.

BUS PLAN — Invited County Supervisor Peter H. Behr to discuss before the council his plan for a bus lane on the railroad right-of-way.

POLICE—Endorsed a proposal by the city-county services committee that a police district be formed in unincorporated areas.

TELEPHONES — Referred to the parks and recreation commission and architectural advisory committee a proposal by Mayor Albert E. White to provide pay telephones in city parks "for convenience and public safety."

ASSEMBLY — Endorsed a "community assembly" on educational issues Friday and Saturday at Tamalpais High School.

SEWER—Signed an agreement with Northwestern Pacific Railroad to put a new $13,000 sewer line under its tracks. The line will serve Enchanted Knolls, and replace the present line which runs across the mud flats to the treatment plant.

Death Row Gets 63rd Condemned Inmate

Ernest Shepherd III, 22, was committed to San Quentin Prison's Death Row yesterday following conviction of the robbery-murder of Miguel Navar, 52, in Los Angeles County.

This brought to 63 the number of condemned prisoners at San Quentin. One, Paul Eugene Lavergne, 22, of San Diego, is scheduled to die in the gas chamber March 15 for the beating and strangling of an Imperial Beach cab driver on July 7, 1964.

Tetrahedron Memorial Idea Heard

Take three concrete triangles, 96 feet on a side, put colored plastic in their centers, and put them together at the Marin County Civic Center and what do you have?

John H. Geiger of Fairfax, in two letters to the Marin County Planning Commission, said you would have a museum and a unique memorial to Frank Lloyd Wright.

Geiger said his tetrahedron with patterns of triangular plastic in the triangular walls, forming various sized stars of David "would not only be beautiful and functional, but very unique. I have never seen anything like this proposed building."

Perhaps the proposal came too late in the day for the planning commission to show much enthusiasm.

Said Commissioner William F. Upton, "I see nothing wrong with it provided it were put under ground entirely."

The commission voted 6-0 (Commissioner Claude Stoller absent) to refer Geiger's proposal to the county administrator for study.

Gallinas Canal Users Divided On Covers Issue

The issue of covered boat slips has become a hot one along Gallinas Canal, and members of Services Area advisory board agreed they would send out a post card survey to try to resolve it.

About 30 persons attended last night's board meeting at the Civic Center. Two petitions were presented — one for covered docks and one against them.

Michael King of the county public works department said many boat owners feel it is their right to have covered slips. Others argued however, that boats are now designed to take all weather and that the covers would be unsightly and block views.

Wording of the post card will be discussed at the advisory board's mext meeting, April 3, King said.

License Slated

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Unless written protest is filed, the contractors' state license board announced today it will issue licenses March 23 to Nat S. Burmeister, 555 Canal Street, San Rafael, for general contracting, and to Podesta of Marin, 11 River Oaks Road, San Rafael, for landscape contracting.

Engineering Students Get High Ranking

WASHINGTON (SS) — Good "organization men" are more likely to come from the ranks of engineering and business students, liberal arts students, according to a 300-page study from Northwestern University's Technological Institute. They are also more "security minded" than liberal arts types. Engineering students are less concerned with status than members of the other two groups.

Gilbert L. Krulee, chairman of the department of industrial engineering and management sciences, arrived at these conclusions after a six-year study of more than 1,100 students.

Undergraduates in engineering and liberal arts were found to place a higher value on intellectual competence than business students who expect success to depend more on administrative ability.

Dental researchers have found that a substantial reduction in tooth decay can be had by coating the biting surface of teeth with plastic.

MRS. STROM SAYS SHE'LL CAMPAIGN

San Rafael Education Board Member Raps Union As 'Threatening Local Control'

Mrs. Anita C. Strom, challenging a demand for her ouster by California Federation of Teachers committee, announced yesterday she would seek election to the San Rafael Board of Education seat to which she was appointed two years ago.

"My primary interest is in the education of our children," she said, "but when unions move in with their power and money and decide who they want defeated, they are threatening local control of schools."

HER DEFEAT URGED

In December, the academic freedom committee of the CFT, following an investigation in San Rafael schools, urged the defeat of Mrs. Strom at the polls in April. She later charged the committee was attempting to intimidate the city's school adminstrators.

Specualation over Mrs. Strom's candidacy had continued for weeks. Late yesterday, she picked up papers for verification deputies from City Clerk W. C. Cornwell.

NAMED IN 1965

She was appointed to the board in May, 1965, to fill out the term of C. Paul Bettini, who was elected mayor a month earlier. She is a housewife and an employee of Budd's Travel and Tours, San Rafael.

Besides the term of Mrs. Strom, those of Herman L. Childress and Carl J. Brown, current board president, expire in April. Both Brown and Childress are seeking re-election, having returned candidacy papers.

A newcomer, management consultant John C. Pfeiffer, has taken out papers to seek one of the seats, but has not returned them. Filing deadline is Friday.

ATTORNEY FILES

Candidacy petitions for another term as city attorney were returned late yesterday by David Menary Jr., who so far is unopposed for the position.

Filing deadline for city offices is 5 p.m. Friday.

Novato Teener Listed Missing

James Severin Lilleberg, 16, of 680 Midway Boulevard, Novato, has been missing from home since he left after an argument with his stepfather Friday, police reported today.

He was reported missing yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Dawn I. Scheiern.

The youth was described as five feet six inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, of slender build with blond hair and blue eyes. When he left home he was wearing gray corduroy pants, sweater with horizontal stripes, and a maroon jacket.

In Fair Condition

John D. Mailer, 56, of 512 Main Street, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after reportedly taking an overdose of sleeping pills yesterday afternoon at his home. Sausalito firement rushed a resuscitator to Mailer's home at 6:22 p.m., and United Ambulance took him to the hospital.

Gate Petition To Be Presented

Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission will receive a petition from eight residents tonight asking for gates at the Andy Peri Playground to protect children from the creek on one side and street traffic on the other.

The playground is fenced by there are no gates at the fence openings.

The commission will also discuss setting up a joint meeting with the San Anselmo Park and Recreation Commission.

Discussion is also scheduled of plans for tennis courts, repairs to the pavilion, estimates of maintenance costs for the pavilion and ball field, the senior citizens' program, the Deer Park picnic area, and a Lions Club proposal for horseshoe and shuffleboard facilities.

PAUL Y. DUNN

Marin Scout Executive Resigns Post

Paul Y. Dunn, who has served five years as scout executive of Marin Boy Scout Council, will leave at the end of this month to become deputy scout executive of the Los Angeles Area Council.

William P. Murray Jr., president of the Marin Council, today announced Dunn's resignation. He said it may be a month or more before a successor is found.

Besides his scouting activities, Dunn is a member of the board of the Marin Mental Health Foundation, treasurer of the Ross Psychiatric Clinic, on the executive board of Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, and vice chairman of the special events committee of the United Bay Area Crusade.

He has served as training officer of rhe Camp Fire Girls in Marin. He is a member of the San Rafael Rotary Club and Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club, and is an elder and Sunday School teacher in the Latter-Day Saints Church.

His wife Catherine, daughters Carolyn and Marie, and father-in-law Daniel Severn will remain in Marin until Marie graduates from Terra Linda High School in June. They reside at 522 Appleberry Drive, Lucas Valley.

Murray noted that the council has shown growth in membership and adult leadership during Dunn's five years as executive, and has fully developed Camp Tamarancho above Fairfax and Marin Sierra scout camp near Emigrant Gap.

FAIRFAX CITIZENS RALLY TO COUNCIL

Letter Turns Town Meeting Into Vote Of Confidence By Big Crowd

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

A letter turned a town meeting called by Fairfax City Council last night into a vote of confidence for city councilmen and officers — particularly the officers.

The letter, addressed to local property owners and calling for a return to the commissioner form of government, was in circulation around the city last weekend.

Far from gaining any supporters last night, the letter had the effect of rallying the 150 people who packed the Fairfax Women's Club.

Mrs. Priscilla Gray of 126 Ridge Road seemed to sum it up to the majority's satisfaction. She was applauded when she said:

"The implication of the letter seems to be that the city could be run by five part-lime councilmen who would be building bridges in their spare time. I would like to hear how anyone thinks we could get along.

"Fairfax is not as ahead of the times as it could be. . . . We need more help in running the city, not less."

The letter was signed by Ann H. Winsor, Richard D. Fowler and Richard E. Blackburn. After quoting figures they said it cost the city to hire a city administrator and city engineer, the writers stated: "We have always had councilmen who were public spirited, and no doubt still do.

"When they directed each department, the employees did a good job. We see no improvements by the above high priced experts. Do you?"

Mayor Peter R. Arrigoni assured his audience: "The council will not go back to that form of government. It is like working in the dark ages."

GIANT STEP

He said that since the city hired an administrator in 1965, it has taken "giant steps forward in many ways."

Mrs. Dorothy Olson called the hiring of an administrator an "efficiency measure." Other speakers said that the city has derived benefit from the officers.

It was the rising cost of running the Fairfax government that Frans J. Letschert of 126 Frustuck Avenue said was his main problem.

THE 'LUXURIES'

He was not worried about paying for police and fire protection, which he said were necessary — it was the "luxuries" such as a new city hall which he said should be questioned.

Another speaker said more ways should be sought to keep the cost of running the government down. He was afraid Fairfax's independence would run it "into the poorhouse."

Councilman Adelaide Wilson, on the committee formed to study the need for a new city hall, said it was up to the citizens themselves to decide if they wanted a new building. It is the only alternative to apending money on a new foundation and roof for the present premises which are already overcrowded, she declared.

BUILDING COSTS

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo said it would cost $135,000 without architects fees to repair the present building; $50,000 more to build a new hall to last 40 years.

Asked how the new city hall would be financed, Mayor Arrigoni said citizens must decide if they want to commit future generations to paying off a bond issue. They must also consider how much a new city hall would cost a future council if no action is taken in 1967

Marin Optometric Society Is Honored

The Marin County Optometric Society was honored recently at the annual meeting of the California Optometric Association for active public speaking in behalf of the science.

The speaker's bureau award was accepted by Dr. Howard A. Levenson, president of the Marin chapter.

Mill Valley To Spend $15,000 To Remodel

Mill Valley City Council last night voted $15,000 to remodel the old library and the city hall to provide new offices for city departments.

Cost of partitions, electric and painting work on the second floor of the library was estimated at $9,000, reported Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon. The planning and building inspection departments will move to the library, and the lower floor will be used for storage.

Cost of remodeling the lower floor of city hall was estimated at $6,000, Bragdon said. The finance department will move into the present building inspection department and the police department will expand into the present finance department.

Fears about the structural safety of the library, Bragdon said, will be resolved "by locating everyone fairly near an exit."

Use of the library as a city hall annex will be for "at least five years," he said. The future city engineering department also will be located in the old library, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer noted.

Eventual construction of a public safety building to house fire and police headquarters would not relieve city hall's need for an annex, Balmer said.

Mill Valley voters rejected a $300,000 bond issue in November to finance a public safety building. The measure could be put to a second vote in April 1968, Balmer suggested. "Space is very important to the morale and efficiency of your staff," he told the council.

Novatans Hear Check, Theft Counts

Michael Edward Overstreet, 18, and Gordon Keith Jennings, 19, were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of burglary and conspiracy to defraud with worthless checks.

Overstreet also was arraigned on a complaint charging he passed four worthless checks totaling $156.79 last Dec. 28-31 with intent to defraud Montgomery Ward and Co., Corte Madera. Jennings was arraigned on another complaint charging he passed four checks totaling $130 with intent to defraud Montgomery Ward Dec. 28-31, and a $115 check to defraud Ray Jacob in Novato.

The burglary allegedly occurred at the Ward store in Corte Madera Jan. 4. The conspiracy count involves two worthless $10 checks drawn on a joint account.

Judge Hadden W. Roth referred cases of both youths to Marin Juvenile Court. He scheduled a report on Overstreet, of 1309 Leafwood Drive, Novato, for March 20. Report on Jennings, of 25 Sierra Vista, Novato, is due at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

New Charges Set In Check Case

Donna Mae Minosky, 22, already charged with conspiracy to pass a forged $144.26 check, yesterday was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on four counts of possession of checks with intent to defraud.

Plea entry on the new complaint was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Miss Minosky, of San Francisco, and Leroy Austin Bazile, 19, of Oakland, are accused of the conspiracy to pass a forged $144.26 check at Wells Fargo Bank in San Anselmo on Feb. 28.

Miss Minosky also faces two other worthless check counts.

Belvedere Solves City Office Space

The Belvedere City Council last night unanimously approved a plan by architect Allan Steinau to remodel Belvedere Community Hall to provide space for city offices.

Mayor John R. Moore called it "the most practical solution" to the need for office space.

The lines of the Community Hall will be retained and the building will be extended 42 feet southward to the intersection of San Rafael Avenue and Community Road.

The design permits expansion of the firehouse below by 18 feet, and provides six parking spaces on community road.

"Our budget wouldn't permit demolishing the old building," Moore told councilmen. Cost of the remodeling was estimated at $61,400.

The council authorized Moore and Councilman Thomas S. Price to proceed with development plans and work with the fire department.

The Belvedere City Council also:

COMMUNITY TV ORDINANCE — Introduced an ordinance granting a franchise to Cable Television of Marin for a community antenna television system.

DRAINAGE — Voted to have engineering studies proceed on a joint agreement with Tiburon to solve mutual drainage problems, and authorized city engineer Albert H. Siemer to consult with McCreary-Koretsky engineers, who prepared a drainage report for Tiburon. Councilman Edwin Drechel's recommendation that priority be given to investigating an old drain found on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad yard was approved in principle.

SEWER STUDY—Declined to ask John Corello Engineers to study cost of bringing Belvedere's sewer system up to standard, particularly on San Rafael Avenue. Maximum fee was set at $975.

BEACH ROAD — Accepted completion of the Beach Road reconstruction project by Valentine Corp.

PAGODA LANE — Awarded a contract for $1,941 to Valentine Corp., low bidder for reconstruction of Pagoda Lane stairway from Bayview Avenue halfway to Beach Road. City Mgr. William L. Cavalli urged council consideration of rehabilitation all the walking lanes.

CLEANUP WEEK — Set the week of May 15 as cleanup week.

BUS STOP — Agreed it would be desirable to move the Greyhound Bus stop from in front of the city offices on Beach Road to the corner of Teal Road, and asked Cavalli to present working drawings for the stop at the next meeting. Cavalli was hopeful Belvedere Land Co. might share the cost of about $3,000.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Kirk W. Bassett, 1 West Shore Road, to replace Randolph Elliott, resigned, on the parks and recreation commission.

School Rooms Looted

Room 62 and the entertainment office at San Rafael High School were broken into during the weekend and two gold school rings worth $44 and $22 in cash taken, it was reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Censorship Results In More Public Suspicion

Almost invariably, the managing or censorship of news, no matter how well intentioned, results in disaster.

When the truth finally leaks out, as it inevitably must in a government that is run by and for the people, the damage wrought in loss of public confidence and increase in public suspicion far outweighs the gains anticipated by the original censorship.

On a national scale, the Administration's "credibility gap" is a case in point.

In Vietnam, our airplane losses were officially announced as 662, then later "revised" to nearly double. Helicopter losses were listed as 225, but the figure turned out to be closer to 600.

Bombing of Hanoi and its environs was officially denied, then acknowledged.

The net effect of this series of misstatements and half-truths is that the gap in credibility is further widened. Even the supporters of the Administration who tended to discount the critics begin to doubt the pronouncements coming out of various "responsible" agencies in Washington.

The growing lack of confidence in Washington announcements might even lead some to grasp at information and propaganda emanating from other and more sinister sources.

If the process of news management were to continue, and agency after agency are eventually caught with their slips down, no future government news release would be taken at face value.

There is even less justification for censorship or suppression of news in local affairs, where national security is not at stake.

We have been bitterly assailed by a couple of letter writers for reporting unrest at the San Rafael Military Academy. They assert that the entire matter could have been ironed out, but for the headlines in the Independent-Journal.

These critics are laboring under the mistaken belief that the unrest or revolt would have gone unnoticed forever. And even if the press became aware of the incidents, they contend that the press should have looked the other way.

It's the same old story. "If there's fire or crime elsewhere in the community, the press should let us know. If it's in our own back yard, you keep out of it!"

Our policy of reporting the news to the best of our ability as it occurs will continue unchanged.

Alerting the public at the first sign of smoke is far better than clamping the lid of secrecy over a simmering pot until the lid blows off. Then, the very ones who are arguing now for suppression would be the first to point an accusing finger, and yell: "Why didn't you alert us before it got so serious?"

March, The Unruly Month

March is the unruly month named for Mars, Roman God of War. This Master of the Great Winds often takes Marin to task several times during his month, and gives us a good lashing.

He is moody, sometimes gay and sunny, sometimes sullen and forbidding, sometimes wild and angry.

This moodiness is in rather sharp contrast to Shakespeare's "gentle April," in Marin as well as England.

Reagan Walks Tightrope Over Possible Kuchel-Rafferty Race

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Ronald Reagan, a successful practitioner of the 11th Commandment—Republicans should not speak ill of other Republicans—is hoping to build the 1968 campaign around it.

The 11th Commandment is the brainchild of Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, who was chairman of the GOP State Central Committee during 1966. And, despite considerable skepticism over its ability to withstand the Reagan - Christopher primary, many have credited the philosophy with playing a big part in Reagan's smashing victory.

AS FOR 1968, Reagan first of all has made it pretty definite that he'll head a favorite son delegation to the 1968 Republican national nominating convention. This means Reagan would appear on the June primary election ballot with a slate of delegates.

As head of the delegation, one of the largest, Reagan could wield the power at the convention that California, as the largest state, deserves.

BUT MORE important from his standpoint is the fact that his favorite son candidacy is carefully calculated to keep such other hopefuls as Gov. George Romney out of the primary contest. Many fear that, just as sure as Romney was on the primary ballot, a conservative would also run and the GOP would have the Goldwater-Rockefeller fight of 1964 or the Nixon-Shell fight of 1962 all over again.

If Reagan is successful in heading off such a divisive contest, it could go a long way toward providing a Republican majority in the November, 1968, election. But, alas, that is only one of his problems in carrying out the principle of the 11th Commandment.

THE OTHER concerns the senatorial primary contest. And Reagan has been taking the 11th pretty often when it comes to the candidacy of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif. Reagan has said repeatedly he would not become involved in the primary but would support whomever was nominated. A few Republicans and a lot of Democrats tried to make something of this during last year's campaign by criticizing Reagan for saying he would not back Kuchel in the primary.

But, of course, he didn't say that. He said he wouldn't back any candidate. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., is taking a similar position and recently rebuked a reporter with a leading question as to whether anything would make Murphy happier than seeing Kuchel defeated.

KUCHEL HAS a long record of breaking the 11th Commandment. He endorsed Rockefeller in the 1964 primary and then refused to support Goldwater when he became the candidate. The 1966 election played like a re-run, with Kuchel coming out for Christopher and then withholding his support from Reagan in the general election.

When informed he had been criticized by Parkinson for breaking the rule, Kuchel's reported reply was to ask "Who in the hell is Parkinson?"

REAGAN'S TIGHTROPE will be made even more perilous because of the near certainty that Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, will challenge Kuchel in the GOP primary. Rafferty may have set some sort of precedent last year when, from the rostrum of his non-partisan office, he endorsed Reagan in the general election.

Rafferty is classified as a conservative and a primary battle with Kuchel could have all the divisive effects which Reagan is hoping to avoid. So the 11th Commandment will be put to another important test in 1968.

THE TEST will be even more difficult when it's considered many of the practitioners of the Commandment may not have their hearts in it. But, as Reagan believes, the chances of a GOP victory in California will hinge on the effectiveness of the Commandment.

Mrs. Musser Lauded For Volunteer Work

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding your Feb. 17 coverage of the Novato School's Joint Founder's Day observance held at Hill Jr. High School.

Since you saw fit to print but one line of information about Marion School's Honorary Life Recipient, Mrs. John Musser, I feel it should be accurate.

Mrs. Musser received her award for giving swim lessons to over 200 children each year, free of charge. Her many hours devoted to serving youth are too numerous to mention here.

Marion School's PTA was proud to honor Mrs. John Musser. Anyone who donates hours of time unselfishly to children these days is unique and deserves full credit.

Fluoridation Backer Defends Statement

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Here we go again!

I did not err in my statements on water fluoridation. I implied that 90 per cent of all dentists in California favored fluoridation. As for physicians, most of the ones I have spoken to about fluoridation have been very favorable to it. Some have had no opinion, and none have been against it. It simply has not been a medical problem.

I would also like to ask Mrs. Franklin of what significance are four cases of alleged fluoride poisoning deaths among the millions and millions of people who have daily intakes of fluoride.

Her case history of the man from Texas who died supposedly from an excess of fluoride was particularly interesting. Were the other three deaths that she mentioned in Texas also?

Texas happens to be one of the few places in the U.S. where fluoride is abundant naturally in the water. This naturally occurring fluoride is in a very high concentration. Much greater than we propose for our water supply.

This high concentration of fluoride in the Texas water greatly reduces the occurrence of dental care, causes in some people a slight discoloration or mottling of tooth enamel (Dental fluoride), but in no way creates a medical problem.

Anything in excess is harmful, even the oxygen in the air we breathe. Fluorine, also, is harmful in excess, but we are not concerned with an excess of fluorine. We only are concerned with the 0.7 to 1.0 part per million concentration which is a genuinely therapeutic thing.

Therapy Group Can Be Very Beneficial

Editor, Independent-Journal:

This is a belated response to a plea for a "Therapy Group for Disturbed Persons," a letter appearing in the I-J on Jan. 17.

I can speak only as one who has had considerable therapy and who believes in its efficacy, but with certain qualifications. The "right" combination of client-therapist or group-leader must obtain, and the person must really be wanting to improve. In this little known area of the human being there are many approaches being taken, much study being made and there is progress. But it must be remembered that humans are dealing with humans; a given therapist may be right for one person, not good for another, yet the methods and attitudes good.

I can speak with authority only about myself in saying therapy does work. To me, two words best describe what therapy has helped me do: understand and accept.

My interests in therapy, coupled with being a professional potter and teacher, has resulted in numerous workshops I have had with staff and patients in mental hospitals, to name one activity. Everything around me indicates my interest in art and therapy should be combined and put to use. I see this taking shape as informal periods where a group will work with clay, or paint, or cloth, or any one of many marvelous materials available. Several others I know, all oriented and experienced in this direction, are interested in seeing something like this happen. I would welcome communication from people likewise interested.

Breakthrough Story Fails To Hit Mark

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The significance and effect of the Tamalpais High School "Breakthrough" Day did not seem to breakthrough in your coverage of this event in the Independent-Journal on Feb. 28. This is perhaps understandable as a newspaper's job is to report facts — which you did. Communicating feelings may be more the role of television. This was accomplished magnificently by San Francisco's educational channel KQED, which in my opinion even contributed an added dimension to the total experience.

In watching the concluding panel on television, as the results of the group discussions were summarized, it seemed to me that one opportunity for converting communication into increased understanding was missed.

This occurred when some of the Negro students were honest enough to put into words the feeling they have that when they pass a white person in the corridors, or on the street, the white person avoids their glance and just looks through them "as if they didn't exist". At this point some white person should have stood up and said, as I would have had to: "I've got news for you. When a white person walks past me they just as often as not look through me, too. In fact I would have to admit that I probably very frequently feel uncomfortable enough in that situation to do the same thing to whom ever I encounter be it male or female of any color." This would also serve to illuminate a truth — that the American white person is apt to be somewhat rigid and unspontaneous, while the Negro person in general is of a more open, sensitive and warmer nature.

How can we understand our relationships with other groups if we do not come to terms and accept our own nature?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

FROM THE busy pen of Sam Himmell: The young couple had had their first quarrel, and for several hours neither would speak to the other. Finally the husband decided to give in. "Please speak to me, dear," he said. "I'll admit I was wrong and you were right." "It won't do any good," sobbed the bride. "I've changed my mind." . . . A longsuffering wife complained to her husband: "Every time you see a pretty girl you forget you're married." "Oh, no, I don't," he replied with resignation. "That's when I remember." . . . Said a wife: "That couple next door seem very devoted. He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?" Said the hubby: "I don't know her well enough yet."

A STARLET with a superb sense of double-entry bookkeeping finagled a date with the most eligible bachelor in town. She returned from the date with spirits high and reported to her roommate. "We're off to a promising start. I had to say 'no' to him from the minute we climbed into his car. He kept asking, 'Do you mind if I do this?' and 'Do you mind if I do that?' " . . .

LBJ Timing Just Right In Stealing Play From Bobby

WASHINGTON — It might have been just a presidential coincidence, but the timing was terrific.

There is no doubt Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., gets in President Johnson's hair with what he says on Vietnam. But, while earlier this year he must have made it look windblown, last Thursday he blew a gale.

Yet before the day was over Kennedy, who might have had the front pages to himself, had to share them with Johnson who butted in not once but twice.

EARLIER THIS year, while skipping around Western Europe, Kennedy got worldwide attention with some statements he made, like saying the next few weeks would be critical in the war.

He was reported saying secret talks were going on. But he said this wasn't what he had said. He said contacts were being made. The White House said it knew nothing special about the next few weeks. And Johnson said he knew of no serious efforts by Hanoi to end the war.

Then, a sensation. Newsweek magazine must have rocked Johnson with a story saying Kennedy, while in Paris, got a peace-feeler from North Vietnam. Asked about it, Kennedy at first refused to comment.

NATURALLY, THIS raised a number of questions, one above all: Wouldn't it be strange if Kennedy could start the peace ball rolling and Johnson couldn't? Kennedy came home and saw Johnson.

After that get-together Kennedy said he hadn't brought any peace feeler. And more reports, unverified, said Johnson had bawled him out. Not long after that Kennedy let it be known he was preparing a major speech on Vietnam.

Last Thursday was the day he chose to deliever it. He was a cinch to make front pages. Then something happened. Maybe it was only a coincidence. But Johnson suddenly called a news conference a few hours before Kennedy's talk.

Johnson quickly announced the Soviet Union, through Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, had agreed to discuss halting the arms race. This could have been the only reason for calling in the newsmen.

BUT ONE OF THEM, and it certainly was a convenient time for Johnson to be asked the question, raised a point about peace with Vietnam. And Johnson at once made it clear there would be no let up in the pressure on Hanoi.

But Kennedy's whole speech was to be a proposal that U.S. bombing stop for awhile to see if North Vietnam wanted to talk peace. Now Johnson had answered him before Kennedy could start. Was this just a coincidence?

Later in the day a newsman told Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, "some suspicious people" wondered if Johnson had not called the news conference and made the war statement to take the play away from Kennedy.

CHRISTIAN EXPRESSED innocence. And later in the day Kennedy made his speech but had hardly started before Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a Johnson supporter on Vietnam, made public a letter from the President on the situation.

Hartke Seeks Change In Social Security

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Social Security beneficiaries should receive the full payments to which they are entitled regardless of how much additional income they can earn.

The only condition should be the payment of Social Security taxes for at least 40 quarters —10 years.

This is the only requirement that should prevail. There should be no "earnings test" of any kind. If a Social Security beneficiary has paid this tax for a minimum of 40 quarters, then he should get his full pension notwithstanding what he may earn in gainful employment.

THAT IS THE emphatic demand of Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., veteran member of the Finance Committee which will consider President Johnson's proposals to increase Social Security payments. They are sure of enactment in some form.

It is Hartke's contention that Social Security is old age insurance, and no strings should be attached to full payment when a beneficiary becomes eligible.

In other words, Hartke holds that those who pay Social Security taxes are, in effect, buying government insurance for their old age, and when they reach 65 should get what they paid for without any restrictions.

President Johnson has proposed that the "earnings test" ceiling be raised to $1,680. It is now $1,500 a year, with a $1 reduction for each $2 earned over that up to $2,700. From then on, it's a dollar-for-dollar reduction.

AS A CONSEQUENCE, a 65-year-old beneficiary receiving the top payment of $142 a month ($1,704 a year) loses all his benefits when his earnings exceed $3,804 — no matter how much and how long he paid Social Security taxes. In the lower brackets a retiree receiving $50 a month loses his benefits with a suplementary income of only $2,700 a year.

Thus, the lower the benefit, the lower the amount of allowable additional income — for the beneficiaries who need it most.

Senator Hartke vigorously argues that any earnings limitation is an unreasonable and unjustifiable "penalty" on retirees with no validity in today's economy.

The Social Security Administration estimates that elimination of the "earnings test" would cost the Social Security trust fund an additional $2 billion annually.

Senator Hartke has compiled detailed actuarial statistics showing the fund can afford this, based on a computerized projection of the country's aggregate payrolls over the next 75 years.

The pending Social Security legislation will be considered by the Senate Finance Committee after it has been acted on by the House in the spring. When this measure comes before the committee, Hartke will offer his bill eliminating the "earnings test" as an amendment—and is confident of its inclusion.

MRS. INDIRA GANDHI will be replaced as Prime Minister of India. Her most likely successor is former Finance Minister Morarji Desai, whom she defeated for the office several years ago. He was re-elected to the new parliament by a big majority . . .

President Johnson will not reappoint Federal Reserve Governor Charles Shepardson, when his term expires May 1. Shepardson was named in 1955 by President Eisenhower, and is a vigorous advocate of tight money . . . Vice President Nixon will write a series of articles and make a number of speeches throughout the country following his "fact-finding tour" of Europe and the Iron Curtain. He will return around Easter, and after a brief rest will make a similar tour of the Far East . . .

THE U.S. has agreed to give the new Indonesian regime around $70 million in economic aid this year. Some of it will consist of surplus food.

Reason Why Novato's Future Is Bright One—Young Ideas

Novato has been a city full of young ideas. Because of this, it has not hesitated to do things that older and more sedate cities have not. This holds true not only of the city government, but the people themselves.

For example, after years of futile effort to get the state Division of Highways to landscape the islands in Highway 101, the city did it. Sure, the state still owns it, but the city spent its money to do a job which the state should have done, but would not do.

NOVATO ALSO led the fight against city residents paying double taxation — paying for city services and then paying again for the county to perform the same service although the city residents do not receive it. This led to the initial reduction in the fire tax levied by the county against the cities which maintained their own fire departments.

It has not yet been successful in getting the double tax for the police protection reduced for city residents. Here again they pay their own police and also pay the same as people in unincorporated areas who use the sheriff for protection. The same holds true of city and county planning departments.

This willingness to act applies not only in the governmental matters. When the city-owned community house needed a facelifting, a group, led by Mrs. Bea Carpenter, jumped into it and gave the old building new life.

IT IS THIS same spirit that led to the next possible project for the city. Mrs. Betty Machado was at the county Board of Supervisors meeting last week and realized that the county was giving up its prime position and not going to have a booth at the California State Fair.

She asked the city council, that night, to take the project from the county and advertise the City of Novato in a booth.

Her enthusiasm was shared by Mrs. Carpenter, who told the council that Novato had so much to offer that an excellent booth could be made from it. She said that Novato was the gateway to Point Reyes National Seashore and that everyone from Sacramento to the Oregon border would go through Novato to get to the Seashore.

She then enthusiastically described Novato as not only being a bedroom community, but also having many other things to advertise. Her mind raced ahead of her voice and she described Novato as being a "bedroom playground."

IT WAS A SLIP of the tongue but if that idea were carried out it would make a booth which would outdraw all others at the fair.

On the serious side, the Novato Chamber of Commerce is considering taking on the fair as a project.

If they do, we're sure that they can find enough in North Marin with its rural activities, its rapid growth, its being a sportsman's paradise and boating center and many other things which could be featured in any fair exhibit.

Another Novato enterprise that is growing because it refuses to be hidebound is the North Marin Water District. That district has annexed land in Sonoma County and on Tomales Bay near Marshall.

Not only has it annexed the land, but it is going ahead with engineering studies to bring water there. This has led to the area around Inverness and Point Reyes Station, which wanted water service, to turn to the district that is not afraid to reach out and do things.

ONE THING which the Novato Garden Club did several years ago was to beautify Grant Avenue by planting liquid ambar trees. This was the work of the ladies in that club who wanted to see it done, and then set out and did it.

However, not all things stay done. These trees now need a little pruning and a lot of weeding. One of these days, the merchants or the club women will probably perform this little task.

These are the things that set Novato up as a young and coming community.

Motherhood, Tuition, Brickbats All Part Of A Columnist's Day

AS with every columnist, whatever his stance, an occasional piece of mine evokes a sheaf of letters saying in essence, "Attaboy!" And, being human, I thoroughly enjoy the bouquets.

BUT IF I have a swelled head— which I've just been charged with — that's not the reason. Rather it's because of the brickbats that arrive in the same mail about the same column. The more thoughtful of these call me a fascist and a racist, but the more outspoken use four-letter words this paper won't print. And brickbats create more lumps on one's head than being pelted by roses. Ask your doctor.

They tell me such differences are what makes horseraces and, since California's revenues from that noble sport are so desperately needed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, as a good Republican I'll go along, though I at times wish there were an easier way. So, if brickbats aimed at my noggin keep Santa Anita and Hollywood Park going, keep 'em flying. My head may be bloody, but it is unbowed.

But, though I'm willing to suffer for my beliefs, I am no stoic and I'm damned if I'm going to suffer silently—that would take all the fun out of it. And I must say I don't like a column attacked for something it didn't say.

HERE'S A NOTE, e.g., that indicts me for "placing property rights above human rights" — the first of the two standard liberal cliches — because I have jeered at some of the pipe-dreams of the Great Society. These welfare programs, says the writer, would keep the family together and thus elevate motherhood, to which I'm obviously opposed.

Well, it so happens I loved my mother and am deeply conscious, perhaps more than most, of the sacrifices she and my father made. Maybe not at the time — youngsters take so much as their due — but later on I realized fully how much they had pinched and done without to provide for their children during the lean years.

Don't worry. I'm not going to get maudlin about motherhood, for I suspect enthusiams for it can be carried too far. As, for example, when I read that thousands of high-school girls become mothers — and aren't too sure who the father is. I am not altogether persuaded this contributes to the sanctity of family life.

ANOTHER LETTER, employing liberaldom's second great cliche — "no man is an island" — says I don't want the poor to be educated or I wouldn't have backed Reagan on tuition fees. It quotes Ralph Bunche as saying he'd never have been able to get a college degree had UCLA charged.

Whether that quotation is accurate or not, it is pure hogwash. Thousands of Americans from poor families, before Bunche and afterward, managed to get a university degree in spite of tuition fees, provided only they had gumption enough.

There were jobs to be found through the college employment bureaus; a good many students worked during the summer vacation; and, in addition, there were always scholarships available for those who qualified — and there were many times when those scholarships went a-begging.

ABOUT A DOZEN years ago my records show, there was a similar nation-wide hullaballoo about the millions of young geniuses born into poor families and thus deprived of the college education they merited. A group of businessmen from three midwest states got together and offered to pick up the tab for such cases. After a search — widely played up in the papers — they came up with just one student who genuinely needed — and deserved — their aid.

At about the same time General Electric abandoned its practice of awarding 100 undergraduate scholarships yearly. One of the recipients, it seems, used his money to buy a new car and another took his wife to Europe on the grant.

WORTHWHILE projects, heaven knows, but not precisely what hard-hearted GE had in mind.

We do things better today. The Daily Bruin of UCLA is a sturdy sheet which unhesatatingly uses all the four-letter words, some of which haven't occurred even to my correspondents. And when the editor needed $225 for a plane trip to Chicago to attend a "Strike for Peace" meeting organized by Bettina Aptheker, the famous Communist Free Speech gal, the understanding Dean of Student Activities gave him a check for it.

OUT OF his own pocket? Heavens, no! What are university funds for?

Clausen Votes To Keep North Viet War Funds

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, Calif., voted with the majority against an amendment that would have cut off appropriations for the war in North Vietnam.

The House voted 372 to 18 to reject an amendment to the $4.5 billion military procurement authorization bill, providing that none of the funds involved would be used for military operations in North Vietnam.

In the Senate, California's two senators were split on an amendment, adopted 72-19, to a military procurement bill expressing intention to provide all necessary support for U. S. forces in Vietnam and support of efforts to prevent expansion of the war and bring it to a peaceful conclusion.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel voted with the majority, in favor of the amendment. Sen. George L. Murphy voted against it.

Aspirin, New Drug Get Equal Ranking

BOSTON (SS) — A test in which the effectiveness of aspirin and the new drug indomethacin were compared in treatment of 24 rheumatoid arthritis patients showed no difference in advantage.

The 24 patients were given each of the drugs for one month at a time by Drs. Robert S. Pinals and Sumner Frank of Tufts University School of Medicine, hero. Reporting in the March 2 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, they said side effects did not differ in frequency or severity but that headache was noted more commonly with indomethacin and hearing troubles with aspirin.

Window Broken

John A. Musso reported to Tiburon Sheriff's deputies Sunday that someone broke a 30-inch square window in his building at 14 Main Street, Tiburon, the former Prince Charlie Inn, during the preceding night.

Novato Civic Center Hearing To Be Tonight

The long-awaited public hearing on Novato's civic center site will be held by the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. today in the Community House.

The city planning staff has proposed four possible sites—the present community hall - city offices site, the Frank Baccaglio property on South Novato Boulevard opposite Rancho School, the southwest corner of Tamalpais Avenue and Novato Boulevard, and the Pinheiro property north of Olive Avenue and west of Highway 101. The staff gave first pirority to the Pinheiro site.

Organized opposition has developed against moving the civic center from its present location. The Novato Chamber of Commerce has voted to oppose any move of the city offices. Petitions are being circulated by Novato businessmen against the move.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, March 7, the 66th day of 1967 with 299 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new stage. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

American boatonist Luther Burbank was born on this day in 1849.

On this day in history:

In 1936, Adolf Hitler ordered his Nazi troops to march into the Rhineland, breaking the Treaty of Versailles.

In 1945, the Unites States' 1st Army crossed the Rhine at Remagen, south of Cologne, Germany.

In 1962, U.S. steel companies agreed to resume talks with the United Steel Workers Union following an appeal by President Kennedy.

In 1965, a national uproar was triggered when Alabama police used gas and clubs to break up a Negro protest march in Selma. Forty civil rights marchers were injured.

A thought for the day—American attorney Robert Green Ingersoll once said: "Few rich men own their own property, the property owns them."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The co.umn of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Fearful Finesser Finally Has A Victory—But It's Ruined

This is a good day to send a few flowers to Fearful Frank.

For 10 years he refused to take a finesse for fear of losing it.

He finally took a finesse that he was sure of winning — and landed in the hospital.

Opening lead — ◇ K

Frank took the ace of diamonds and led the ace of trumps. Frank winced when West discarded, but then he smiled because he saw that he could later take a trump finesse with absolute assurance that it would work.

Our hero took the top hearts, discarding the losing diamonds from his hand.

WHAT HE DID

Then he led summy' s remaining trump to win a finesse with the 10.

Frank continued with the top clubs and gave up a club to the queen.

West led a diamond, and Frank ruffed low.

He then gave up a low trump and won another trump finesse when East had to return a trump from the Q-9 to South's K-J.

Frank landed in the hospital because he bragged about taking the first trump finesse.

This play cost him his slam, as North forcefully pointed out.

SHOULD RUFF

Ater taking the top hearts South should ruff a heart with the four of spades.

He cashes the top clubs and ruffs the jack of clubs in dummy.

By this time East and South are reduced to four trumps each, and South has still not lost a trick.

Declarer leads any card from dummy.

East ruffs low, and South over-ruffs with the 10. This over-ruff takes the place of a finesse.

South now leads the five of spades, giving the trick to East. But now East must return a spade from the Q-9, and South wins both tricks with the king and jack.

Declarer gets all the finesses he needs if he is not in too much of a hurry.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two spades (forcing to game), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 9 8 7 6
♡ J 10 7 3
◇ 7
♣ 6 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two notrump.

You can show your fine spade support later, but your first duty is to deny high-card strength.

Trying For Realism

LONDON (UPI)—Writer Olive Cockman said she was just "working out a story" when she was arrested for shoplifting. The judge wrote the final chapter with a 10 pound ($28) fine.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hemorrhoids Lack Safeguards Most Blood Vessels Do Enjoy

VAN DELLEN

Hemorrhoids are two sets of blood vessels that line the walls of the rectum. The internal lie under the membranes of the rectum and the external are beneath the skin that encircles the outlet. These vessels have no valves and in this respect differ from veins elsewhere in the body. Without this safeguard they become overdistended when the individual stands or strains.

Their location also predisposes them to inflammation, obstruction and bleeding.

HEREDITY plays a role, some men and women are born with weak tissues that gvie when the strain is too great. These persons may develop hemorrhoids early in life.

Symptoms rarely occur unless one of the external veins increases in size and projects to the outside. In this stage there is vague soreness which goes away when sweiling subsides. Constipation, straining at stool, being jostled, or lifting heavy objects aggravates the disorder. Anything that increases pressure in the abdomen such as pregnancy or tumors also complicates matters.

SOME VICTIMS are never bothered beyond this. Recurrence takes place following periods of fatigue or overindulgence in food and drink. Bleeding may alleviate the condition because swelling and irritation subside when the vein is empty. As a rule external piles respond to rest and cleanliness.

Internal hemorrhoids usually are less troublesome unless they become inflamed or rupture. The resultant swelling is painful and occasionally leads to temporary incapacity.

CLEANLINESS minimizes the infection but remove all traces of soap because the chemical may increase irritation. Lubricants, suppositories, and hot sitz baths afford temporary relief in severe types. Permanent cure is obtained through surgery and to a lesser extent with injection treatments.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I.J.)

PAIN AFTER CORONARY

L. P. writes: Four months ago a person had a slight coronary. Should he still have some pain in the chest?

REPLY

Chest pain of cardiac origin (angina pectoris) seldom develops after a minor coronary thrombosis. The question cannot be fully answered without more information, such as the location of the pain, and whether distress is brought on by exercise or excitement and relieved by nitroglycerin or rest.

ALCOHOL AND LIVER

Mrs. L. E. writes: My husband drinks heavily over the weekend and has developed hepatitis. Is this disease caused by alcohol?

REPLY

No, it is a virus infection. No one with liver diseases should drink and unless your husband reforms he is a good candidate for cirrhosis of the liver.

HEEL DISTRESS

H. O. writes: What causes pain in the heels on arising?

REPLY

Rheumatism acts this way in that pain is noticeable on arising and is relieved by activity. Involvement of the joints of the foot is not so common as that of the back, knees, and hips. Gout also is a possibility

FAST PULSE

I. Z. writes: Could excessive intestinal gas cause a rapid pulse?

REPLY

Yes, but nervousness is a more likely cause of an increased heart rate. An emotional disturbance could be responsible for both conditions.

NEED NOT RIPEN

O. L. writes: Can a cataract be operated on before it has reached maturity?

REPLY

I know of this substance but could you mean firewater, which some people consider a remedy for almost everything?

STOMACH GROWTH

C. K. T. writes: What is a stomach polyp?

A tumor that looks like a miniature punching bag. Stomach polyps are rare and usually are not cancerous. They cause concern, however, because it is difficlut to differentiate them from malignancies. Surgery usually is advised if for no other reason than to settle this point.

WEIGHT, DIABETES

L. R. writes: Why are diabetics fat, if they cannot utilize sugar?

REPLY

The majority become stout before developing diabetes and for this reason we believe the two conditions are related. When untreated at this stage, diabetics begin to lose but weight can be regulated with insulin and a proper diet.

PHLEBITIS

P. A. writes: Is phlebitis a disease of the blood?

REPLY

You are warm; it is a disease of the blood vessels, more specifically a vein. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on phlebitis.

Today's Health Hint — When exercising, stop before you are overtired.

Cutback Is Proposed In Clean-Up Plan

Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday proposed that the paint-up, clean-up project for commercial areas be cut back from 80 to 40 buildings, reported chamber president Edward M. Mills.

A total of $3,700 has been collected from owners and occupants of 40 commercial buildings, he said, of which $1,000 has been paid to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Field, Woodside color consultants planning the April rejuvenation project.

Saturday was the deadline for the Fields to present drawings of their plans for the project, but chamber directors agreed at a special meeting last Wednesday to extend the deadline 30 days, Mills disclosed.

Under the existing contract with the chamber, the Fields are to collect $3,000 when the chamber approves their drawings. Their fee would be reduced by one-half, Mills explained, if the program were cut back to 40 buildings.

The paint-up, clean-up is planned for April 22-23.

Motion Picture Fee Studied

A business fee for motion picture production in Sausalito will be proposed by City Mgr. George M. Patterson to the city council meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

"A reasonable business license fee" should be charged, he said, to companies using the picturesque city as a background for filming. Motion picture companies "are not charitable organizations," he noted.

Also on the agenda is a request for a dredging permit from Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co., 1702 Bridgeway. The dredging would be to maintain a channel to the bay, and not connected with plans for the four huge drydocks, the company is repairing, Patterson said. The permit also would require approval by the bay conservation and development commission.

Anti-Waterfront Signatures Grow

The "grass roots movement" in Tiburon now has more than 400 signatures on petitions urging endorsement of the parks and recreation commission esplanade plan for the waterfront, according to Mrs. Kitty Halprin, who heads the group.

The group opposes the Tiburon Downtown Plan and recommendations of the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee on waterfront development.

Jewelry Display

Patricia of Marin will demonstrate making costume jewelry and other objects by a new papier-mache method at a public meeting of the North Bay Artists at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

Anniversary Art Show Is Underway

Marking the start of a second year of monthly art exhibits, the Unitarian-Universalist Church, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael, is having an anniversary show.

Composed of recent oils, watercolors, graphics and collages of Marin artist Gwen Stone, the show will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays until March 31.

Also, the trustees will continue planning a building program as a result of voter approval Feb. 14 of a $250,000 bond issue and a $290,000 state loan request for a school addition.

Giants Get Tarkenton From Vikings

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Football Giants announced today the acquisition of quarterback Fran Tarkenton in a trade with the Minnesota Vikings.

For the 26-year-old scrambling signal-caller, the Giants gave up their first and second round draft choices for 1967, their No. 1 pick for 1968 plus a player to be mutually agreed upon later.

Coach Allie Sherman of New York's National Football League club called Tarkenton "a fine pro quarterback whose ability, leadership and experience will be a great asset to our team."

The Giants said they had assumed Tarkenton's contract with the Vikings, which has a year to go.

Last month the quarterback told the Minnesota club that he wanted to play out his option for the purpose of aligning with another team. There had been reports of personality clashes with the Vikings' coach, Norman Van Brocklin. Van Brocklin subsequently resigned.

The Giants' current quarterback staff includes Earl Morrall, who is recovering from a broken right wrist; Tom Kennedy, who had been purchased from the Dodgers of the Continental League last season, and rookie Bob Post, who spent the 1966 season with the taxi squad.

In conjunction with this announcement, the Giants said that NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle had authorized them to disclose that, as part of the agreement between the National and American Football Leagues, the Giants had these two draft options:

1. The first selection in either the 1967 or 1968 college player draft for the purpose of picking a quarterback.

2. The right to trade that selection for a veteran quarterback.

It is the second option that has been traded to the Vikings for Tarkenton and Minnesota now gets first choice for a quarterback.

Tarkenton, a standout with the University of Georgia, joined the Vikings in 1961, their first year in the NFL. The 6-foot, 195-pounder has been one of the league's outstanding quarterbacks over the past six seasons.

He has completed 1,024 passes in 1,899 attempts for 14,579 yards, 113 touchdowns and has a completion percentage of 53.9.

A renowned scrambler, Tarkenton carried the ball 293 times for 1,893 yards. He has a 6.5 yard rushing average and 15 touchdowns.

ODDS SWITCH: GIANTS FAVORED TO WIN FLAG

Harrah's Tahoe Race Book has now made the San Francisco Giants 9-5 favorites to capture the 1967 National League pennant race, it was announced today.

Previously, the Giants and Pirates had both been listed at 5-2. Following the Giants are Pittsburgh, 2-1; Atlanta, 5-1; Philadelphia, 6-1; Los Angeles, 7-1; Cincinnati, 8-1; St. Louis, 12-1; Houston, 50-1; New York and Chicago, 100-1.

In the American League, Baltimore is still the Harrah's choice at 8-5.

Lew Talks—All's Not Well In Bruin Country

The University of California at Los Angeles is a staggering study complex consisting of skyscraper dormitories, life-saving hospital and medical center, concert hall, research laboratories and a faculty of the finest minds in western America—a billion-dollar investment in humanity.

And nine out of 10 visitors who come on campus say, "Which one's Alcindor?"

A BOY WHO SPECIALIZES in 3-foot, 2-point baskets is a bigger tourist attraction than a cure for cancer, the education of a generation, a library with the virtual sum of the world's knowledge on its shelves.

Ferdinand Lewis Alcindor Jr. rates as high on most California sightseers lists as Disneyland, City Hall, Hollywood Boulevard or the homes of the movie stars. He is the most significant import since the orange, the second-highest peak in the city limits, the tallest edifice in town without elevators or a TV antenna atop. Ten years ago, they would have had to change the earthquake ordinances to admit him.

NOT EVEN ON A BUSY street should anyone whose glasses are clean have to ask, "Which one's Alcindor?" Not unless they go to a circus to ask, "Which one's the elephant?"

F. Lewis Alcindor is the world's best young amateur basketball player which, of course, is not to be confused with brain surgery as a profession, although it will ultimately pay a good deal better. There are nights when "UCLA" seems to stand for "University of California at Lew Alcindor."

LEW'S REASONS for coming to UCLA are the least bit obscure, possibly because they are intended to be, but, as a New Yorker born and bred, he was as alien to California as summer rain. Every institution with a gym and backboard wanted him. UCLA got him. All inquiries were shrugged off with, "Just lucky, I guess."

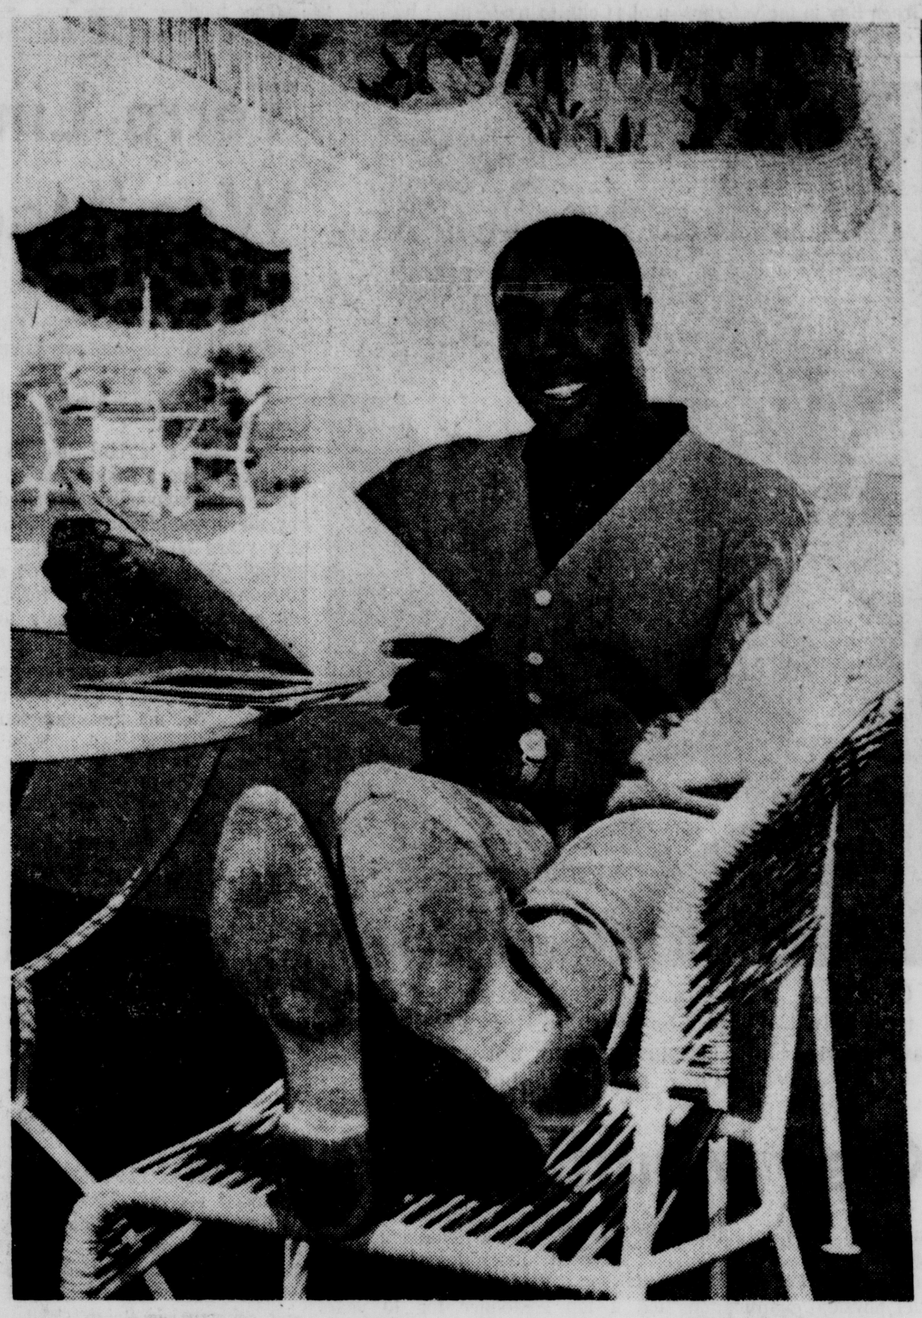

From the beginning, the institution seemed as embarrassed as if it had a unicorn in the living room. It threw up a screen of ill-advised censorship around him which had the effect of making him seem (and feel?) as if he were on the campus but not of it.

LEW APPEARED not to be clear on whether they were protecting him from the community or the community from him. But, presumably, he hid a radio in the attic to tune in on Radio Free Los Angeles, because his first utterance—when he was finally led, blinking, into the sunlight and permitted to address the liberation forces of the press—was, "The people of California are playing a game on the rest of the country."

It was clear Lew wasn't even sure it was safe to drink the water. The word, "phonies," got a heavy play in his public pronouncements. The Colorado, he hinted strongly, was not the Jordan. The state's choice of a governor left him speechless. Republicans were just a rumor, the part of the country Lew came from. He moved off campus and left the impression that was just the start.

THE UNIVERSITY said, "Heh-heh. Well, boys will be boys," and undertook to "explain" away Lew's dissatisfactions. He "didn't mean it that way," he was "misunderstood," (or "misinterpreted," or "misquoted"). But it was clear these explanations came not from the horse's mouth but from other areas of the anatomy. Lew meant it all right. The unicorn in the parlor had just tipped over the piano.

Lew this week starts a campaign which will doubtless bring a national basketball championship to this land of milk and phonies—better known as "Caliphonia." Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce is trying to think of a suitable gift to give him for his achievements. Something simple—like a train ticket to New York. One way.

Hart Gets Rapped

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants' pitchers were rapidly polishing curves and fast balls today in preparation for the first of 30 exhibition games which start Friday.

"You guys," shouted Willie Mays to right-hander Gaylord Perry, "are throwing too hard. Y'know the hitters have to get ready, too, but you guys are throwing so hard we ain't getting any good swings."

"You'll get your hits," laughed Perry.

Bob Bolin was throwing so hard that he sometimes lost his accuracy. A quick three-quarter arm pitch hit Jim Ray Hart on the left shoulder and richocheted into the batting cage.

Immediately Mays ran to Hart's side, hoping to cool Jimmy down.

"C'mon, get outa there and take a breather," Mays said to Hart.

DUG IN

But Hart brushed Mays aside and dug in for Bolin's next pitch. Again it was fast and inside, but Hart sent it deep to left center. It was one of the few balls hit to the outfield during the day.

Perry, Bolin, Ron Herbel and Lindy McDaniel were on the hill.

The spring practice lasted from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. and the Giants appeared to be in good enough physical condition to withstand the sweaty routine. Manager Herman Franks, on the move going from one diamond to the other, kept the players toiling.

The morning sessions started with handling the ball on the basepaths. Norm Siebern was usually trapped in a rundown and attempted to evade Hart or Jimmy Davenport at third and Tom Haller or Hal Lanier at home.

WORKOUT

Lanier and shortstop Tito Fuentes again got in their 45 minutes of work on double plays in which the combination was 9th from the 10 National League baseball teams.

"We no get a chance to work together as a combination," said Fuentes. "I was hurt or something wrong was happening. Maxie and me we just don't come together as a combination. This year we do, I betcha."

Lanier said the Giants' infield did not get as many chances for double plays last year as did other clubs. "With our pitching staff, not many men got on first base and if you can tell me a way to make a double play with nobody on, I'll buy you the Eiffel Tower for Christmas."

The Giants meet the Chicago Cubs Friday at Scottsdale, Ariz. for the first of a gruelling preseason schedule.

Swagerty Nips Critchfield As Most Valuable Player

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Keith Swagerty of the University of the Pacific and Russ Critchfield of California have received nearl equal recognition for their basketball exploits from the Northern California basketball writers.

Swagerty, a 6-foot-7, 235-pound center, was given the award as Northern California's most valuable player. He outpolled Critchfield, a 5-foot-10, 150-pound guard, by only one vote.

Both were selected by nearly unanimous choices to the writers' district team. Others on the Northern California squad were Dennis Black of University of San Francisco; Mike Gervasoni of Santa Clara and Don Griffin of Stanford. Swagerty and Critchfield each got all but one vote.

The United States Basketball Writers Association also selected Swagerty and Critchfield on their Far West district team. They were flanked by Lew Alcindor of UCLA, Jim McKean of Washington State and Mike Warren, also of UCLA.

Warriors Clinch Western Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Bill Sharman feels the biggest problem facing his San Francisco Warriors is that they clinched the NBA's Western Division title "too early."

Sharman, a former Boston Celtic star who is in his first year as the Warriors' helmsman, said his club could become complacent during its remaining eight regular season games.

The Warriors were assembled for a testimonial honoring guard Paul Neumann last night when they learned that St. Louis was defeated by Cincinnati, giving them the division crown.

"I was making a speech when we got the news, and all of a sudden there was a big yell and everybody got excited," Sharman said. "Of course, we would live liked to win the title on the court, but it's been such a great year and the championship is a great tribute to the players."

The coach was asked whether he would rather face the Hawks or Los Angeles in the play-offs and replied:

"I'm not sure whom we would rather face—St. Louis is really a physical team which can hurt you on the boards, but the Lakers have the superstars, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, and a lot of play-off experience."

The division title is the second in four years for the Warriors.

San Francisco is idle now until Friday night when it will face the Hawks at Civic Auditorium.

University Of Illinois Head Will Fight For His Coaches

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dr. David D. Henry, the man standing solidly behind three coaches in the University of Illinois' athletic battle with the Big Ten, is a tough competitor who doesn't believe in giving up.

Dr. Henry, who has been president of the university since 1955, indicated as much when he issued a nine-page statement yesterday as to why the school intends to fight the conference edict to fire the three coaches or face possible expulsion from the Big Ten.

The three coaches on the spot — Pete Elliott, Harry Combes and Howie Braun — were involved in a $21,000 slush fund from which certain athletes received from $15 a month to $50 a month in illegal aid.

Following its ultimatum to fire the coaches, the Big Ten declared five of the athletes permanently ineligible Saturday and suspended two others for one year.

FIGHT TO END

Dr. Henry, in his statement, said he intends to fight the Big Ten's stand to the end and will go through with another appeal by March 17 to "show cause" why the coaches should not be fired.

Basically, Dr. Henry said he found the Big Ten decree to fire the coaches or face suspension or termination from conference membership "unjust and inappropriate."

Dr. Henry was born Oct. 21, 1905, in East McKeesport, Pa. He attended Penn State where he earned his A.B. degree in 1926, A.M. in 1927 and Ph. D. in 1931.

He holds degrees from 20 institutions and belongs to 13 honor societies. He served as president of Wayne State University, Detroit, for seven years before becoming Executive Vice-Chancellor of New York University from 1952 until 1955 when he took the top job at Illinois.

WITHDREW

While being considered for the presidency at Illinois, Dr. Henry withdrew his name. He said he objected to "highly publicized" maneuvers to "investigate" his record while president at Wayne State.

A week later he was offered the Illinois presidency following a unanimous vote by university trustees.

Dr. Henry has no athletic background except that he loves to play golf every chance he gets. He shoots in the 90s and has broken 90 a couple of times.

Basketball Fixer Shot To Death In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Joseph F. Polito, 33, a convicted basketball fixer with shadowy gangland connections, was killed today by a multiple blast of shot-gun pellets as he walked near his Northwest Side home.

His murder apparently became Chicago's 1,002nd gangland slaying.

Polito's body, "with most of his face destroyed," was found on the corner sidewalk a few doors away from his house, according to police.

Four expended shotgun casings were found on the sidewalk. Police, summoned to the scene by a phone call, were still searching for witnesses.

Police Sgt. John Cummings said it was not immediately apparent whether Polito was shot from a car or from the sidewalk.

Polito received a four month sentence in October of 1965 for his part in the attempted fix of a basketball game between Seattle University and the University of Idaho Jan. 22, 1965, in Seattle.

He and Leo Casale, then 24, Chicago, were accused of trying to bribe two Seattle players to shave points in the game.

Casale was sentenced to six months in jail by Seattle federal judges. Polito gave information used to convict Casale, reputed to be tied up with South Side crime syndicate gambling interests.

Because of his cooperation in convicting Casales, Polito was recommended for a lighter sentence by the federal prosecutor.

"I think he was wise to get on the side of the law," said Chicago Federal Judge Hubert L. Will in pronouncing sentence on Polito.

Pro Football Planned For Candlestick

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor John F. Shelley said yesterday he believes agreement has been reached for expanding Candlestick Park and making it the home of the pro football San Francisco 49ers as well as the baseball San Francisco Giants.

"We must first iron out arrangements in a legal amendment to the present Giants' contract," said Shelley. He conferred last weekend with Horace Stoneham, Giants owner, at the National League club's training camp at Casa Grande, Ariz.

He said attorneys for the Giants and the city will go to work on drafting the contract amendment.

The proposed plan would extend Candlestick Park's double-decked seating area to boost capacity to 60,000 for baseball and 66,000 for National Foootball League games. Candlestick's present capacity is 42,000.

The 49ers' present home stadium is aging Kezar Stadium at Golden Gate Park with 59,000 capacity.

Giants Lineup Was 99 Per Cent Set Before Spring Camp Opened

HANLEY

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. — This is just the second week of spring training but the Giants already are a set ball club. In fact, they were 99 per cent set when they came to camp a week ago.

Herman Franks, of course, was well aware of this. However, the manager of the Giants did not come right out and say the door was barred to this year's crop of raw rookies. No manager does that. It would stifle ambition.

WHEN THE GIANTS put their 1967 show on the road next month the cast will feature 12 pitchers; six outfielders; seven infielders, of whom two are capable of outfield duty, and three catchers — a total of 28 players.

After the first month of the season the squad must be trimmed to 25. But that final cut is a long way off.

THE PITCHING STAFF will be headed, as usual, by its superstar Juan Marichal. Nobody doubts that the Dominican Dandy and Horace Stoneham will reach a meeting of minds on Marichal's salary before the team breaks spring camp.

The next eight spots on the pitching staff have these names on them: Gaylord Perry, Bob Bolin, Ron Herbel, Ray Sadecki, Mike McCormick, Joe Gibbon, Frank Linzy and Lindy McDaniel. The next three spots are tossups among Bill Henry, Art Mahaffey, Don Larsen, Dick Sparks and Frank Kasheta.

NATURALLY WILLIE MAYS is listed No. 1 among the outfielders. Ollie Brown, Jay Alou, Ken Henderson, Frank Johnson and Bill Sorrell are the right and left field candidates. Henderson also is billed as standin for Mays when Willie is resting.

The Giant infield is unchanged from last year: Jim Ray Hart, 3b; Tito Fuentes, ss; Hal Lanier, 2b; Willie McCovey, 1b. Jim Davenport once again is all-around infield utility man. Norm Siebern is McCovey's backup man at first. Bob Schroder, previously cast in shortstop and second base roles, will get a chance at third if Hart is pressed into occasional left field duty, something that won't happen if Alou hits.

TOM HALLER AND Bob Barton are the No. 1 and No. 2 catchers. Jack Hiatt and Dick Dietz will battle it out for the No. 3 backstop job. Hiatt can also play first.

Because the Giants have exhausted options on Hiatt and Dietz there is a possibility roster room may be made for both on an indefinite basis. This could be done by sending out such a promising candidate as Henderson.

HENDERSON WON'T BE needed early in the season for any centerfield stand-in roles. Mays doesn't need rests until later in the season. Further seasoning won't hurt Henderson. He won't be 21 until this June 15.

Technically Henderson, Johnson and Schroder still are rookies in major league classification but the big time is not entirely new to them, particularly Henderson and Schroder who spent full seasons on the Giant roster as bonus protectees.

They certainly are not raw rookies like a dozen others on this year's Giant spring roster. All of the raw rookies will be ticketed back to the minors for further experience.

Unitas' Understudy Turns Into A Saint

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It was costly, but Tom Fears has gotten something for the New Orleans Saints that few fledgling pro football teams have — a topnotch quarterback.

Quarterback Gary Cuozzo, 25, onetime Phi Beta Kappa scholar at Virginia and Johnny Unitas' understudy for the past four years, was dealt to the Saints yesterday by the Baltimore Colts in a National Football League swap.

Baltimore took its pound of flesh — with a few extra trimmings.

The Colts got the rights for New Orleans' first round selection in the upcoming collegiate draft.

That means the Colts will get the first shot at the cream of the 1966 college seniors — perhaps Heisman Trophy winner Steve Spurrier if the draft is strictly normal and the stories that the Florida flinger is reserved for the New York Giants aren't so.

Here's how the Baltimore-New Orleans trade went:

The Colts get two 1967 draft choices, including the Saints' No. 1 choice, plus center Bill Curry, obtained last month from Green Bay in the veterans' pool. Fears, New Orleans' head coach, would not say what round the other draft choice was.

Cuozzo comes to the Saints along with Butch Allison, 22, a guard who played on the taxi squad last season after being the Colts' No. 2 draftee in 1966.

It was no secret to Cuozzo. He had asked to be traded.

"I'm very glad to be given the opportunity to play," said the 6-foot-1, 195-pounder in Memphis, where he attends the University of Tennessee dental school in the off-season.

"I had an agreement with the Colts to trade me," he said. "I don't think I could have gotten to play regularly — barring unforeseen injuries — so I'm pleased about the trade."

Fears' acquisition of Cuozzo got a resounding vote of confidence from Golden Boy Paul Hornung, one of the Saints' selections in the veteran pool.

"Gary is a great quarterback," Hornung said last night while in town on a brief visit.

"Yes, that's the right word, you can say he's great. He has a lot of ability and is especially tough passing from the pocket.

"This is suited for a running back of my style."

The balding Fears was as proud as the papa of twins. "It makes it possible for us to have strength at football's most vital position," he said.

Except for the tailend of the 1965 season when Unitas was hurt, Cuozzo hasn't had much of a chance to show his stuff with the Colts. But his initial starting assignment at Baltimore after Unitas' injury was impressive —five touchdown passes for a club record with 16 of 28 completions for 208 yards.

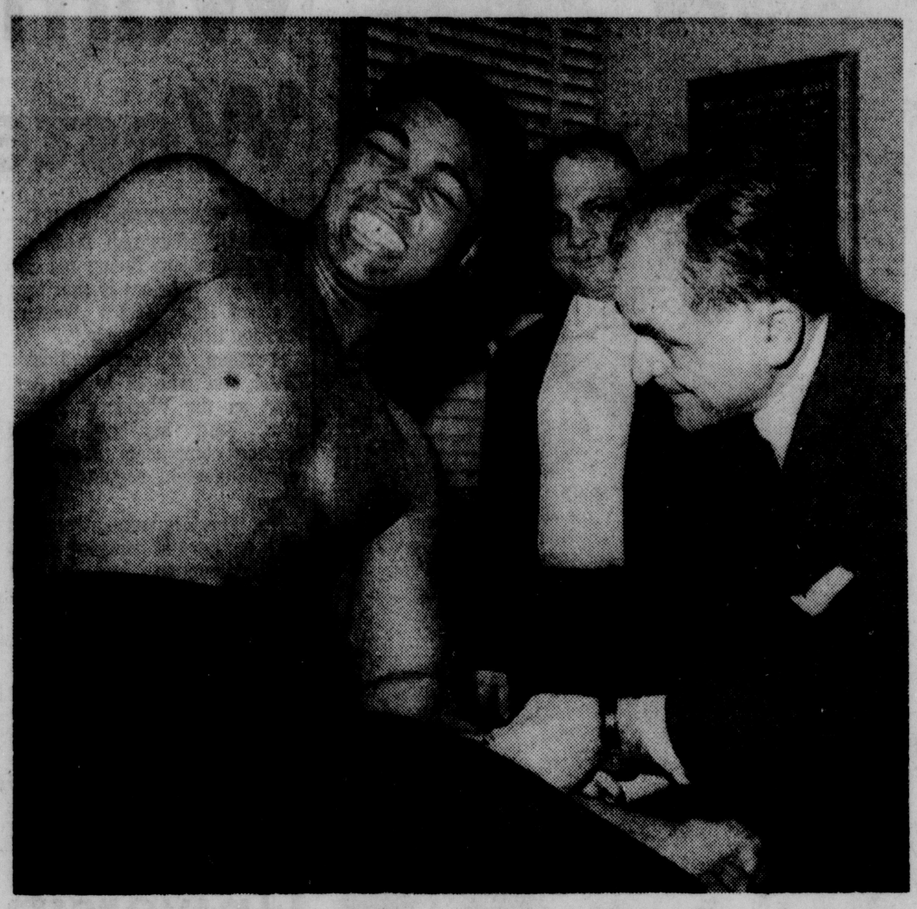

The Saints got quarterbacks Bill Kilmer from San Francisco and Gary Wood from New York in the veteran pool. Cuozzo is considered one of the best No. 2 signal callers in the NFL.

Hornung, incidentally, said that he'd gotten a clean bill of health from his doctors. A pinched nerve in his neck kept him on the sidelines at Green Bay most of 1966.

"I think I'll be at full throttle when the season rolls around," he said. "After 10 years in the same place you begin to look forward to a change."

Cuozzo is a native of Montclair, N.J. Allison, a star at Missouri, was born in Springfield, Mo., where he attended high school.

Curry saw action as a Green Bay starter last fall when the regular packer center was out with injuries. He's a Georgia Tech grad.

Terra Linda 'B' Cage Team Was 'Magnificent Seven'

By ROB HARVEY

Lots of work goes into the building of a championship team. In any sport.

Of course there's always that bit about talent.

But take a circuit like the NBA Eastern Division for example, so profoundly dominated by the invincible Boston Celtics for years on top of years — though Philadelphia's 76ers threatened what could be termed mutiny last season only to lose in the playoffs.

Then, too, take a circuit like the Marin County Athletic League. No, not the champion Drake Pirates.

'B' CHAMPS

In particular, the 1966-67 Class B champion Terra Linda Trobabes, who were kinda like the Celts with a man for every job. How, you ask? Thanks.

Firstly, guided to a 10-2 loop record by coach Joe Brighanti, the Trobabes had seven players who started at one time or other on a given night, or afternoon, as it was in many instances. Two of them always were on the bench to pick the team up in crucial situations — health permitting.

Moreover, in addition to well-balanced scoring, Terra Linda had excellent rebounding led by 6-½ junior forward John Thibodeaux who averaged 10 rebounds a game with a high of 23, and sophomores Brian Carlisle and Charlie Freschl.

These two factors are what a pleased Brighanti attributed most to the final outcome.

ON THEIR HEELS

Brighanti's cagers, with their offense centered around three guards and two forwards, had two teams on their heels one week before they wrapped it up. Redwood and Drake both had identical 8-3 MCAL slates at that time, but all the Trobabes (9-2) had to do was whip heck out of Marin Catholic. The Wildkittens had salvaged a 40-38 decision when the teams first met, but the Trobabes got their revenge and in so doing averted a two-way tie, as Redwood subsequently downed Drake in that league finale.

In MCAL play, two players hampered by injuries during second-round action, Thibodeaux and sophomore Pat Purcell, averaged 10.8 and 9.3 respectively to pace the Terra Linda scoring attack.

SOPHOMORES

Then there were sophomores Bob Naddell, a defensive standout and Guy Franklin, who took up the offensive slack left by Purcell when the 5-11 guard was slowed down due to injury; and 5-9 junior guard Larry Mason, who averaged 9.8 points over the entire campaign.

"Mason was probably our clutch performer in the stretch because of his scoring," Brighanti noted, "and he always came through with clutch baskets when we needed them most."

These seven were the only cage stars presented letters at Terra Linda's winter sports award presentation night, at which Thibodeaux was voted most valuable player to add to his selection on MCAL "Bees" first team. Team captain Purcell made second team and Mason received honorable mention.

There is a possibility that none will be back next season, including Purcell, credited by Brighanti as being the man of the hour at the beginning of the season.

"Bob Corley (head varsity coach) should get help from most of these boys," Brighanti conceded.

So now it's on to bigger things for this "Excellent Seven." Maybe not better, but bigger, baby.

Let's wait and see.

Two Marin Swim Teams Dominate Class B Meet

The Marin Swim Club and the San Rafael Swim Club dominated the Marin County B Swim Meet at College of Marin last weekend, totaling 42 first places between them and 14 relay victories.

The Marin Swim Club garnered 23 first places to San Rafael's 19 while the relay showings stood at eight victories for Marin and six for San Rafael.

Scott Hislop in the boys eight and under captured three firsts for San Rafael while Rita Nederman in the girls eight and under also turned in triple victories. Brian Hennesy, Steve Crow and Colleen Donovan were double winners for the Marin Swim Club.

Other winners for San Rafael were Kathy Hislop, Lisa Knudsen, Kathy Flaherty, Mitch Young and Katie Parnow while Cory Vidak, Liz Locati, Cheryl Cattan, Charlotte Carlson, Colleen Donovan, Nancy Tufts, Ken DeMont and Anne Engel were winners for the Marin Swim Club.

Stranded Tars Handed 8-3 Loss

College of Marin's baseball team managed to leave 12 men stranded on base and dropped an 8-3 practice decision to Contra Costa last week at Richmond.

The error-marred game, which lasted about three hours, lowered the Tars non-conference won-lost record to 2-3.

Marin, led by Bob Lombardi with two singles, and Dan Harrah, Jim Capell and starting hurler Ralph Garner with one safety apiece, tallied one run in the fifth, seventh and ninth innings, while Contra Costa picked up two runs in both the first and second frame to virtually settle the fray.

The Mariners take on the Contra Costa nine again today, this time at Kentfield, at 3 p.m.

Marin 'Cats Switch Baseball Game Site

Marin Catholic High School's scheduled game against El Camino next Saturday has been changed from Albert Park in San Rafael to Marchbank Field in Daly City. Instead of one game, the Wildcats will play a doubleheader, beginning at 11 a.m., it was reported by baseball coach Gary Hughes.

Clay To Keep Mouth Shut?

NEW YORK (AP) — Claiming "On this fight, I plan to keep my mouth shut," heavyweight champion Cassius Clay came to town and discussed his upcoming fight with Zora Folley, the Black Muslims, Viet Nam, Oscar Bonavena, Joe Frazier, Wilt Chamberlain and hypocrisy among his critics.

In New York yesterday to wrap up arrangements for his March 22 championship fight in Madison Square Garden with Folley, Clay insisted, "I don't plan to enter controversy this time as I have in some other fights."

Clay and Folley underwent brief physical examinations and signed license applications and the 34-year-old challenger expressed satisfaction at getting a shot at the champion after being a top contender for 10 years without ever having a title fight.

Both fighters were pronounced in excellent shape and Clay dispensed some opinions:

"Folley is a nice, clean, civilized man. He can hit me. Terrell couldn't," Clay said, referring to Ernie Terrell, his most recently defeated opponent.

Of the Black Muslims, Clay, who prefers the Muslim Name of Muhammad Ali, said "We are fighting in Vietnam for people's freedom and I am being criticized for my religious beliefs. That seems to me to be hypocritical."

Clay said his next bout might be against Oscar Bonavena of Argentina rather than Joe Frazier, 1964 Olympic Champion from Philadelphia, because Frazier refused the bout.

"Frazier said he wasn't ready — he didn't want me. He's smart."

Of talk with Wilt Chamberlain, the professional basketball star who said he would like to fight Clay, the champ said, "I'd like to fight Chamberlain anywhere—in the ring, in an alley. He'd never play basketball again."

Clay left town today for a training camp in the Catskills, about 100 miles from New York. Folley also will train in the Catskills, but planned to remain in New York on business for a few days.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Fishermen Have A Big Feast In A Big, Paradise Sunday

STEVENS

An optimist might easily predict that "happy days are here again." No question but what the lads and lassies who trolled the Light Ship area on Sunday really connected. The report from Caruso's harbor at Sausalito was good for Saturday also. Top boat unloaded 13 nice salmon to 25 pounds. And by 9 a.m. Sunday, the boats working the Light Ship area were really cleaning up. Listening to my Halicrafter I heard some glowing reports from various boats. "Water is like a mill pond today," one boat called out. One of Caruso's craft had 12 nice salmon in the box at 9 a.m. Apparently the fishing was very rewarding on Sunday.

HAL BOENNER of Lee Anderson's shop in Oakland reported several boats on the way in with limit catches. (At 11 a.m.) An item of news reported by Hal Boenner featured fisherlady Rosemary Preston catching a nice 15 pound striper off Treasure Island. She was using blood worms for bait.

Hal also gave honorable mention to Rev. F. Robinson who picked two lunkers to 30 pounds while casting from shore at Point Richmond. The Reverend used blood worms likewise.

Talking to the Quans of China Camp, I learned that Saturday was a productive day as was Sunday. On Saturday, 36 nice bass met their fate. Fish ranged from 14 pounds to 24 pounds all taken on bullheads.

ALICE QUAN mentioned the exceptionally good flounder fishing in the shallow waters on the China Camp side of the Pumphouse. Four sturgeon to 48 inches were also landed at China Camp. Sturgeon fell for grass shrimp.

A short note from "Pat and Bob" of South Bay reads: "Just finished a swell meal of flounder fillets prepared and cooked according to your recipe. Delicious!"

THAT WAS SHORT and to the point. If you are curious about the recipe for flounder fillet mentioned in the note, it is very simple. Here it is: After slicing off the two sides of the flounder, lay flat and separate the flesh from the skin. Dip each fillet in a mixure of one can evaporated milk and two table spoonfuls of prepared mustard. Dredge each piece in seasoned flour. Drop the fillets into a large pan of very hot oil or shortening, allow not more than 30 seconds for the meat to brown on each side. (The trick is to turn each fillet as it just turns a golden color.)

Lots of catfish showing in the back country but the stripers are still a bit reluctant to cooperate.

SPEAKING OF RECIPES once again I offer you readers top salmon recipes — 30 different ways to serve salmon including an easy recipe for canning salmon. I have given out so many of these recipes I doubt if many more of my readers are still without the five-page pamphlet. No charge, merely send me a self-addressed and stamped legal size envelope, and I'll fill your order.

Super-Soph Epic Scheduled For Channel 7 Airing

Rick Barry, 22, super-star of the NBA Western Division leading San Francisco Warriors, will be the subject of a Channel 7 sports special, "Super Soph," to be aired in color Friday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m.

A penetrating profile of Barry will be painted with exclusive action films, plus the added attraction of behind-the-scenes views of the exciting, controversial Warrior relaxing at home with his wife Pam and their four-month-old son.

In addition to his own reaction, comments on Barry the teammate and Barry the man will be offered by Warrior general manager Bob Feerick and Franklin Mieuli, president.

They will also discuss the relationship that Barry, the star, holds with the rest of the team.

Marin Man Named State Wildlife Week Chairman

Bernard De Bisschop of San Anselmo has been named state chairman for Wildlife Week Observance, scheduled March 19-25; with a tree-day convention slated to start Friday, March 17, at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco.

De Bisschop, who will hold the chairmanship throughout 1967, will head the efforts of the California Wildlife Federation, which is joining the National Wildlife Federation in sponsoring this annual natural resource conservation project.

"This is Your Land," will be the theme for 1967.

According to De Bisschop, every citizen is a part owner of local, state and federal public lands and should be interested in how they are being used. Moreover, he thinks that many public lands which are presently undeveloped could benefit campers, hikers, sportsmen, and provide for wildlife.

"This means working with public and private organizations as well as public officials to insure that we receive the maximum benefits from our public lands," De Bisschop added.

National Wildlife Week is planned each year to include the first day of Spring. The original proclamation was signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938.

Persons and groups interested in cooperating with Marin Rod and Gun Club conservation effort to make the most of all public lands should contact Milburn Zell, 40 Rosemont St., San Anselmo, for additional information.

Brazil, Rome Play In S.F. Soccer Tilt

International soccer, sanctioned by the U.S. Soccer Football Association, will kick off a new era in American sports in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium Thursday night, March 23.

The feature, a classic match between the famous Roma team from Rome, Italy, and Flamengo from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, should offer Northern Californians the world's most popular sport on a championship level.

Both teams are engaged in battling for top division playoffs in their native lands, and it will be the first time either an Italian or Brazilian squad has played in San Francisco.

The contest is expected to equal the quality of play between Santos of Brazil (with the great Pele) and River Plate of Argentina, which drew 31,291 fans to Los Angeles Coliseum recently.

It'll be the first of a two-game series, as the two clubs meet again on Sunday, March 26, at Randall's Island, New York City.

Oscar Bonavena To Fight Clay?

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Oscar (Ringo) Bonavena said yesterday that he had been offered a chance for a heavyweight title fight with Cassius Clay in Tokyo, but Clay declined to confirm the report.

"That's up to my manager, Herbert Muhammad," Clay said in New York, where he was training for his March 22 defense against Zora Folley, Chandler, Ariz.

Clay said it was probable that Bonavena would be his next opponent but that no firm commitments had been made.

Marin Gridder Honored In East

Jerome J. Kirkpatrick of San Rafael, starting guard for the 1966 Dartmouth College Football Indians, recently was awarded the Thayer D. Hall Memorial Trophy, annually voted to the outstanding collegiate lineman in New England by the New England Sportswriters' Association.

The presentation was made by association president Lawrence "Red" Regan of the Boston Globe, at the Dartmouth Fall Sports Banquet on Feb. 25.

Unheralded at the start of the season, Kirkpatrick, a 6-0, 195 pound junior, started every game at right offensive guard for Dartmouth's Ivy League co-champions.

Jerome, named to the Coaches' All-Ivy team and to the Associated Press and United Press All New England teams, played his prep football at Oshkosh (Wis.) High School, where he was a two-year letterman and captain his senior year. His family later moved to San Rafael.

Shipes Vs. Lester Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — Charley Shipes, California's version of the world's welterweight champion, steps up in weight class tonight in a scheduled 10-round boxing match against hard-punching middleweight Jimmy Lester of San Francisco.

Shipes, of Hayward, hasn't packed a soft touch for his Oakland Arena debut. Lester packs a solid wallop in either hand and knocked out Ernie Buford in his last start.

Shipes won the California welterweight recognition by knocking out Philadelphia's Percy Manning in the 10th of 15 scheduled rounds in his last bout.

Lester and Shipes have sparred many times during gym workouts, so each should be fairly familiar with each other's style.

Computer Related Stock Speculative

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q). "I have heard of Recognition Equipment of Dallas, Texas. Where is this issue listed? What are its products? And do you advise its purchase?" D.C.

A. You have brought up a very interesting stock. Recognition Equipment produces optical readers, which may become one of the most profitable of all items associated with the computer. The optical reader eliminates the necessity of manual data processing, which is extremely time consuming and costly. Essential information contained on cards or other means of recording printed material is read directly into the computer via an optical sensor. Optical input data rates can be as high as tens of thousands of bits per second, whereas mechanical inputs such as keyboard entry are around 15 characters a second.

This sounds pretty grand, but you must understand that there are difficult problems to be overcome before universal optical readers will be wholly practicable. They are still very expensive and accuracy of recognition at present is not 100 per cent. I believe that these problems will be overcome and that optical readers, such as those produced by Recognition, could well be one of the fastest growth items in the early 1970s.

The stock is traded over-the-counter at about 68 bid, close to its all-time high. Operations have been reported at a loss and it is impossible to evaluate the stock by normal methods of appraisal. The shares have a thin market and should be considered a speculation on the future. Although the outlook appears promising, the stock should be bought only in a very moderate amount and not at all unless you can assume considerable market risk and the distinct possibility of future loss as well as gain.

Q "What is your opinion of Creole Petroleum for income?" M. C.

A. Creole operates in Venezuela and its nine per cent yield indicates political and economic undertainties. I advise you to invest your money at home—specifically in Jersey Standard, Creole's parent company.

PAL Reports Drop In Income For '66

SAN FRANCISCO —In a preliminary yearend report, Pacific Air Lines has announced that its net income for 1966 was $150,716, as compared to $700,337 in 1965.

The lower net income, Pacific said, is primrily due to the introductory costs of new jet equipment, an airline mechanics' strike in November and increased competition.

Busy Market Sends Stocks Up A Little

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed today with a slightly higher edge. Trading was moderately active.

As the market meandered aimlessly without any stimulation from news, enough trading and investment demand crept back to give it a bit of a plus.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been lower, emerged to the upside. Gainers exceeded losers by an appreciable ratio.

Analysts still looked upon it as a consolidation process.

Gains of a point or better were made by Goodrich, Raytheon, High Voltage Engineering, Xerox, United Air Lines, U.S. Gypsum and Merck.

Benguet paced the list on volume and gained a fraction, U.S. steel also was active and up a fraction.

M-G-M spurted 3 points, American Cyanamid 2½, Admiral, Warner Brothers Pictures and Schenley a point or better.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher.

Ford To Continue Expansion Plans

DETROIT (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co., told its stockholders yesterday it would go ahead with a $1.5 billion two-year expansion plan, despite the recent sharp slump in auto sales.

A letter signed by board chairman Henry Ford II and president Arjay Miller said, "this is the strongest proof we can offer of our faith in the future growth of our nation's economy. . . ."

Stock Chart Tracers Not Astrologers

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Gaze long enough at the jagged lines of a stock trend chart and you may see emerge from it flags, pennants, saucers, triangles, heads, shoulders — all traced magically in up-down lines.

All these have meaning, at least to a growing multitude of Americans who either buy these charts from publishers or meticulously maintain their own in hopes that a message will emerge from them.

ODD SHAPES

The odd shapes that chartists find in their tracings have come to take on specific meanings, based on events that followed identical formations in past years. These meanings are projected into the future as signals to buy, sell or hold.

Charts can be kept on single stocks or on the stock market as a whole — based on averages. Some chartists graph the performance of the mutual funds, the small investors, the short sellers — and find signals there also.

The charting process is simple. The interpretation is the art.

CHARTIST WORK

To begin, the chartist lists the days, week, months or years across the base of a sheet of graph paper. Up the side of the graph go the numerals. And on this chart is traced a line indicating the high, low and closing price during the time period.

As lines are added they gradually begin to diagram shapes that chartists have come to recognize.

Some chartists have wide followings willing to pay big prices. William Jiler, who operates the Trendline division of Standard & Poor's, charges $225 a year for daily charts, issued weekly.

There is a public misimpression that Jiler and others are something like astrologers. This they correctly but sometimes futilely deny. The shapes that form in their hearts, they maintain, represent graphically the mass psychology of buyers and sellers. These lines are nothing more than their trails.

THE DESIGN

Thus a flag or a saucer or a triangle has no significance in itself. It is not a strange and mystic portent, but a design that appears and reappears based on the activity of buyers and sellers.

Studying such patterns in the past, the chartist finds that certain shapes recur before certain events. Based on this knowledge he forecasts the future.

The weakness of the charts is that they cannot foresee unexpected dynamic events, such as the very tight money that helped deepen last year's decline. Sometimes also the charts betray their keepers for no apparent reason And even the best charts are destroyed in "tidal wave" actions of the market.

Recognizing these limitations, Jiler's first rule is that "when a stock is found to be following a given trend line it is more likely to continue moving along that line than not to."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Lucas Valley Dairy Makes Shifts In Executive Branch

A shift in executive assignments at Lucas Valley Dairy, San Rafael, has elevated Winslow (Windy) Ledson from sales manager to manager — relieving Robert B. Grady from the responsibilities of this office.

For the past three years Grady has divided his time between managing Lucas Valley and sales supervision for the parent company, Petaluma Cooperative Creamery. Now he assumes the official post of manager of jobber accounts and sales in all the Redwood Empire counties that make up Petaluma Co-op's marketing area — with headquarters in Petaluma.

John Markusen has been appointed general sales manager for Marin and Sonoma Counties and Robert Crozier has moved up to general route supervisor, with responsibility for both wholesale and retail deliveries in the two counties.

WHAT MAY SEEM to be a new store — Cosgrove Office Equipment — at 1542 Fourth Street, San Rafael, is acutally an updated and expanded successor to one that has been in business many years.

Owner Tom Cosgrove, who has had Hooper Office Equipment at 1543 Fourth for the past decade, finally decided to do something about acquiring more space. He looked across the street and staring him in the face was plenty of it in the building formerly occupied by Honda Motors and once the home of J. E. French Co. While he was changing things he also gave the business his own anme. Quarters are much larger and brighter; stocks are being expanded considerably.

Daughters Kathie and Susie help in the store. Kathie, a student at College of Marin, has her own little side business in the store — mimeographing, addressograph and direct mail work, and does well at it.

Webb Fieser

JAMES H. WEBB of San Rafael, a devoted Horseless Carriage buff, has been appointed general manager of Strawberry Town and Country Village. Previously he served as architectural designer for Williams Construction Co. work on shops in the village and for the past 10 months has acted as store designer and merchandising consultant for many of the shops.

FRANK A. FIESER of San Rafael has been appointed controller for Western Pacific Railroad Co. He was previously manager of accounting and has been with the company over two years.

UNINTENTIONALLY OMITTED in our recent report of Marin award winners in the San Francisco Copywriters contest was John Mercer of Mill Valley, vice president of Melzer, Aron and Lemen, Inc. Actually he hit a jackpot in this competition — one "best" in the direct mail category and two other awards of merit.

Heyman Lenz

JOSPEH HEYMAN of Corte Madera, owner of ABC General Contractors, San Francisco, has been cited by the American Building Contractors Association as the outstanding chapter president of 1966. He was last year's president of the affiliated Greater Bay Area Home Improvement Council and is serving this year as council chairman.

THOMAS V. LENZ of Corte Madera and his wife have left for Hawaii as winners of the travel award of West America Securities, Inc. They will return Saturday. Lenz is co-manager of the San Franicsco office and qualified for the award by excelling in mutual fund sales in 1966.

EARL BURNS of F. C. Burns and Co., San Rafael, a director of the San Francisco Bay Area Retail Florist Association, was among those honored at the association's recent dinner for their contributions to the floral industry.
